BOMB BLAST IN POPULAR EATERY LEAVES 10 INJURED

● LOW-INTENSITY IED USED ● SUSPECT DROPPED BOMB-LADEN BAG IN CAFE AND LEFT ● MULTIPLE TEAMS FORMED TO CATCH THE CULPRIT

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A low-intensity Improvised Explosive Device (IED) went off at The Rameshwaram Cafe, a popular restaurant located in Kundalahalli on the ITPL Main Road, on Friday at around 1 pm, leaving 10 injured. No fatalities were reported, but one among the 10 injured, a woman, has suffered 40 per cent burns.

The police have intensified the probe to trace the person, who placed the IED concealed in a bag at the restaurant and about an hour before the explosion. A high alert was sounded across the city following the incident and Central agencies, like the National Investigation Agency (NIA) and Intelligence Bureau (IB), have joined the probe with the city police.

The device is said to have been kept in a tiffin carrier placed inside a bag. A person, who took the token from the cashier and ate in the restaurant, placed the bag near a wash basin at the rear of the hotel and left. An hour later, there was an explosion, leaving 10 customers and restaurant staff injured.

Panic gripped Green Avenue opposite Kundalahalli Colony, where the restaurant is located, as people ran helter-skelter. The CCTV footage showed two explosions within a few seconds.

Initially, it was suspected to be a blast due to a leaking LPG cylinder, but after a thorough examination of the blast site, experts from the Bomb Detection & Disposal Squad and the Forensic Science Laboratory declared it a bomb blast as all the LPG cylinders were intact.

Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, who visited the spot with Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara, said the suspect, aged around 30-35 years, came in a bus, entered the restaurant, ordered a rava idli, ate and left after keeping the bag... "An hour later, there was an explosion. We have clues about the suspect and 7-8 teams have been formed in the Central Crime Branch (CCB). The culprit will be nabbed soon," he expressed confidence.

Alok Mohan, Director General & Inspector General of Police (DG & IGP) of Karnataka, told reporters that Central agencies have been roped in for the investigation.

Modi raps Mamata over Sandeshkhali

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

IN a scathing attack on the ruling Trinamool Congress and its chief Mamata Banerjee at a rally on Friday, Prime Minister Narendra Modi alleged that they were insensitive to the atrocities and sexual assault on women in Sandeshkhali. "The entire nation is in dismay, in anger over what happened with our mothers and sisters in Sandeshkhali," he said.

Without naming TMC strongman Shahjahan Sheikh, who was arrested on Thursday, Modi indicated that the Sandeshkhali stir by the local women will be the BJP's key poll plank for the Lok Sabha elections. Urging the women electorate across the state to respond decisively against the heinous acts by TMC leaders in the North 24 Parganas island, Modi said, "Every injury inflicted by TMC leaders in Sandeshkhali must be replied with a vote."

Later in the day, Mamata met Modi at Raj Bhavan. "I met the PM as part of protocol and courtesy," she said after the meeting.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi speaks during a public rally at Arambagh in Hooghly district on Friday | PTI

In his rally at Arambagh in Hooghly, Modi gave credit for Sheikh's arrest to the BJP's functionaries in the state, saying they kept up pressure on the Bengal police.

"For Didi (Mamata), political allegiance of certain individuals is more important than addressing the atrocities against women in Sandeshkhali," Modi charged. Highlighting the alleged corruption in the recruitment in schools, municipalities and distribution in foodgrain, Modi assured that the looters would have to pay back. "Lootnewalo ko lautana parega, Modi chod ne wala nehi hai (Looters will have to refund, otherwise Modi will not spare them)," he warned.

BJP offering ₹50 cr to Cong MLAs, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Friday made an explosive charge that BJP is offering Rs 50 crore to Congress MLAs to topple his government.

He said BJP has continued its efforts to pull down the majority Congress government, but Congress MLAs have not fallen into the trap.

Asked whether BJP is trying to destabilise the Congress government in Himachal Pradesh and may also target the government in Karnataka, he said it has become a part of BJP's strategy to bring down elected governments and come to power through Operation Lotus.

"BJP has not come to power on its own, as it won 110 seats and 100 seats in the previous election and managed to wrest power purchasing legislators. BJP is trying to destabilise stable governments in many states and it is true that they have also continued their efforts to bring down the Congress government in Karnataka that has 136 MLAs," he said.

On Niti Aayog claiming that only 5% of the population in the country is poor, he said the report has to be examined to know whether it is true or false. "It is good if poverty has come down in the country. But I don't think it has reduced to this level if we see the people and their living standards. How can there be 88 lakh BPL families if poverty has been reduced in the country," he asked.

Collect new property tax in phases: Forum to BBMP

Comprehensive assessment essential before implementing new structure, writes Namma Bengaluru Foundation to BBMP chief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Namma Bengaluru Foundation has written to the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner on the proposed change in the collection of property tax based on guidance value and has recommended that if the change is deemed necessary, it should be implemented gradually and in phases.

This would allow property owners to get adjusted to the new tax structure and avoid sudden financial strain. "Establish a system for regular reviews and adjustments based on actual property conditions and market dynamics. This ensures that the property tax calculation remains fair and reflective of the current situation. Conduct thorough public consultations to gather inputs from property owners and residents," the forum recommended.

It stressed on the need to clearly communicate the proposed changes, including outlining reasons, methodologies and anticipated benefits, to foster community trust and comprehension.

The letter mentioned that it is crucial to consider special cases like heritage properties, ensuring fairness through tailored provisions. Measures should be introduced to offer tax relief to low-income households, senior citizens and other vulnerable groups, alleviating potential financial strains from heightened property taxes. Exploring integration with Smart City initiatives can optimise property assessments through technological advancements.

The letter stated that it is imperative to commence property tax collection from the date of the occupancy certificate for a building. Prior to that, property tax should solely apply to vacant or open land, excluding constructed buildings. Additionally, revising property tax at intervals of every five years should be considered. With a yearly increase of 5 per cent in property tax, there is a potential for substantial hikes in property prices and rents, burdening middle-class home buyers.

The organisation highlighted that many properties lack khatas, prompting BBMP to collect taxes through notices. It is BBMP's responsibility to give khatas to these properties before initiating tax collection. To simplify tax collection, BBMP can consider taxing the entire built-up area of buildings, allocating the carpet area to owners and common areas to associations, based on khata records.

The letter was written to highlight the proposal to align property tax with guidance values that may not sufficiently accommodate variations in property conditions. Some properties with high guidance values may require substantial maintenance or infrastructure improvements. This change could increase the tax burden, particularly if guidance values surpass current property assessments, posing financial challenges for residents, especially those with fixed incomes.

"A comprehensive assessment is essential, taking into account factors like amenities, accessibility and local services. A sole focus on guidance values may oversimplify the process, neglecting these critical elements," the letter stated.

BBMP issues notice to property tax defaulters

Bengaluru: The Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has prepared a list of defaulters, zonewise, and has put the list on public domain for all to access. The list details the name and address of the property owner, demand of tax to be paid per year, number of years since the amount is due, the total property tax that is due, application number, remark (defaulter/notice issued/occupied/vacant building), ward name and number and zone. As per the list, while some defaulters have dues pending for a year, some others have dues for as long as six years. The details are also uploaded on the website.

540 Zilla Vigilance squad and 3,108 special vigilance members have been recruited by the department to ensure there is malpractice in the examination, the department said. The exams will go on till March 22.

Last year, the government had scrapped off supplementary exams, and had introduced 'student-friendly' three board exams, where in, students would be able to give three attempts for 10 and 12 boards.

Amid water scarcity in city, BU to research effective use of wastewater

PURAN CHOUDHARY @ Bengaluru

WHILE the city gears up for water scarcity in the coming days, Bangalore University (BU) will spearhead research on the pertinent utilization of wastewater.

The university has signed an MoU with Waste Water Management Illinois, USA, to systematically explore wastewater management and recycled water usage in Bengaluru. For a year, comprehensive research will be conducted using existing data on treatment processes, pollutants, regulatory frameworks, reuse and recycling of water, green infrastructure, energy recovery, smart technologies, climate change resilience, public engagement, and problem-solving measures.

Speaking to TNIE, Inayathulla M, Director, Water Institute, University of Visvesvarya College of Engineering and BU, said that this research is the need of the hour, given that Bengaluru will soon be facing a water crisis. "The focus of the initiative will be the reutilization of existing water and the creation of an alternative source for tertiary use. Currently, our sources are limited only to Cauvery water and borewells. Bringing all stakeholders together, along with experts from Waste Water Management Illinois, efforts will be made to create solutions of portable water from wastewater," he said.

The Director, who is also an advisor in the technical advisory committee (TAC) for wastewater management, added that in-depth analysis will aid in initiating a 'water balance' and 'decentralised use of wastewater.'

Bengaluru University Vice Chancellor Jayakar SM said, "Despite the continuous decline in water quality, demand for water is escalating. In this context, research on the appropriate utilisation and management of water is imperative and we will conduct this research."

The study will involve participation from stakeholders including water and wastewater management experts, industry leaders, researchers, government representatives, and environmental advocates. The study is conducted in collaboration with BWSSB, BBMP, Rotary Club, and Ashoka Trust For Research In Ecology And The Environment (ATREE). An international conference and expo on the same will be organised in 2025.

BBMP staff list many woes, protest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AROUND a thousand BBMP employees protested at Freedom Park on Friday, urging the government to meet their demands. Though the revenue department has increased tax collection over the years, officials are being suspended for frivolous reasons, said BBMP Employees' Union president Amritraj. Rs 3,339 crore was collected in 2022-23 and Rs 3,598 crore in 2023-24. But Assistant Revenue Officer Lakshmi has been suspended for five years without a final order.

Health Officer Devika Rani has not been assigned a place in RR Nagar zone. Senior Health Inspector KL Vishwanath has been suspended in connection with the incident of stone throwing and damaging an English signage by some miscreants, he said.

The biometric login at 10am and logout at 5.30pm has become a burden for field officers as they have to leave their homes early and reach late. The recruitment and promotion of 108 junior engineers, 10 superintending engineers and 20 executive engineers have been proposed to the government, the protesters said.

The BBMP chief commissioner should be given powers to promote 'A' grade officers, as there has been a delay at the government level, the protesters said. They complained that there is a shortage of ward officers and staff in 27 wards, from Ward No 198 to 225. Though the Palike has 5,219 vacancies, the finance department has not cleared recruitment.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath told the employees that their demands will be considered and they should call off their protest.

Sports to help schoolgirls learn sustainable skills

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MORE than 500 girls from government schools gathered in Bengaluru, on Friday, to witness a unique initiative unfold that will equip them with physical, and digital skills, as well as provide a roadmap for their future.

The not-for-profit trust Going to School, in partnership with the Karnataka government and BT Group organised 'Match Day 2024' that celebrates the power of sports to provide life skills, which will eventually help address climate change through entrepreneurial practices.

The two stakeholders signed an MoU on Friday to run the Outdoor School for Girls in 25 government schools between grades 5 to 10 in the city.

A girl plays football at a Match Day 2024 event, organised to celebrate the power of sports, in Bengaluru on Friday | EXPRESS

The integrated curriculum will teach the girls football, and introduce them to STEM courses and sustainable entrepreneurial and digital skills. Planned for school hours across several cities, the initiative aims to equip 2.7 million girls to address unemployment and promote sustainability.

"For the first time in Indian government education, girls are playing football and learning integrated skills to solve climate change, in their school. With a fierce focus on girls' retention in school and transition from school to sustainable enterprise, girls will now have chance of becoming entrepreneurs," said Lisa Heydlauff, CEO, Going to School.

The group also runs Experiential Business School Crash Courses for young women who are taught sustainable enterprise skills on-site. Once they complete the crash course, they can pitch for seed capital grants from Deutsche Bank. "Bengaluru FC has championed the cause of sustainability and awareness about climate change. We are very happy to be able to harness the power of football to spread this message. Let's all play our part in being the change," said Bengaluru FC Head Coach, Gerard Zaragoza who will aid the football coaching for the girls.

PETER VIDAL

02ND March : My planet of the day is Jupiter, symbol of hope and faith in the future. This powerful planet is about to take up a new position, one which encourages us to focus on practical matters. The question is what we can do to make everyday life much better. A great way to start is to look after people worse off than ourselves.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Somewhat challenging planetary patterns relate to life's pleasures in curious ways. The celestial advice is therefore to set out to indulge yourself with determination and discipline! Cultural and high-brow outings will provide excellent stimulation.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
There still seems to be too much uncertainty about personal decisions and choices. There really is no point in trying to get others to sign on the dotted line just yet. There is plenty of time before final arrangements must be reached, so wait and see what happens next week.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
If you have your wits about you, and you certainly should, nobody will be able to get the better of you or pull the wool over your eyes. You may be angry one minute, the very essence of charm the next. If other people are confused, it's because they can't keep up with you!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Partners or close companions are certainly not as cold or hostile as they sometimes seem. Your best policy is to stop worrying about other people and look after your own affairs. Once you have sorted out your top priorities and principles then you will be able to extend proper help to those in need.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
If you ever dreamt of living overseas or far from home, now could be the perfect moment to investigate the available options. Also, do make sure that any travel plans are sufficiently adventurous to satisfy your bold and confident spirit. Also, be sure to listen to an older relation's words of wisdom.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You're entitled to feel annoyed, but your behaviour should be carefully considered. You are torn between making a public song and dance on the one hand, and keeping yourself to yourself on the other. Perhaps you should wear your mystical or spiritual convictions on your sleeve.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Your best option is to take expert or legal advice before you go any further. Your social optimism should be boundless, but you may be so carried away that you double-book yourself or otherwise take on too many commitments. Catch up with old friends - someone is waiting to hear from you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Contentment, it is said, comes from total immersion in worthwhile activities. This should be a busy day, one to take on more responsibilities. You may stretch yourself to the limit, for the more you accomplish now, the more time you will have to relax and enjoy yourself over the coming days.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The winds of change are blowing through your relationships. The whole point about the current situation is that you must learn to listen. You must also try to understand other people's feelings and points of view without being unnecessarily judgmental.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Some of the strongest regions in your chart concern home, work and money. The problem is how best to integrate all these different areas. One interpretation suggests that if you work harder, you'll be able to pay for an improvement at home sooner than you thought.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
It's an ideal day for short excursions and meetings, and pleasant agreements could be concluded. Insist that everyone conforms to your ideas as to what is practical and possible, and they all will prosper. However, whether they agree with you is another matter!

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You know what it is like to be caught off guard, and if someone takes advantage today, it could be over a matter of money. That said, this is a superb time for improvements in family relationships and a step up in your living conditions. Start by fixing everything that's in need of repair.

IN A SPAN OF 48 HOURS, TWO BJP WORKERS MURDERED IN K'BURAGI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kalaburagi

The murders of two BJP workers in two different parts of Kalaburagi district within a span of 48 hours has created tension in the party circles.

In the latest incident, Girish Chakra of Sagnur village belonging to Afzalpur taluk, who is said to be a staunch follower of Kalaburagi Lok Sabha Member of Parliament Dr Umesh Jadhav, and who was recently appointed as advisory committee member of BSNL, was killed by miscreants in the wee hours of Friday.

According to sources, an acquaintance of Girish, Sachin and his followers, invited Girish, saying that they would throw him a party to celebrate his selection as member of the advisory committee at BSNL.

Girish Chakra

It is learnt that Sachin and his followers allegedly killed Girish by attacking him with lethal weapons and before the attack, they threw chilli powder at him, it is alleged. The incident was taken within the limits of Deval Ganagapur police station.

It may be recalled that a BJP leader from Sarasamba village in Aland taluk, Mahantappa Siddaramappa Allure (45), was killed by miscreants at the village on Thursday.

Kalaburagi Superintendent of Police Akshay Hakay said that the investigation in both the murder cases are in progress and the police have taken some people into their custody for interrogation.

State becoming a safe den for goondas, says Vijayendra

BJP state unit president BY Vijayendra has condemned the murders of former district unit vice-president of BJP Allure and Yuva Morcha worker Chakra.

Vijayendra in an X post said that it would be of no use to ask the Congress government in the state, which is making Karnataka a safe den for goondas and mafias, to take action against those who were indulging in criminal activities.

"Ever since the Congress came to power, atrocities and murders of BJP workers have continued unabated. He asked the police to immediately arrest the accused in both the cases," he said.

Kalaburagi MP Dr Jadhav also demanded that the police take action against the accused immediately.

IISc study on eye movements and attention helps develop therapies

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SCIENTISTS in two new studies decided to examine how attention and eye movements are connected when humans observe things, and were able to exhibit how the brain coordinates the two processes.

The research was conducted by the Centre for Neuroscience (CNS), Indian Institute of Science (IISc), where scientists explored the phenomenon that before we look at some object our attention focuses on it which allows us to perceive it more clearly – called pre-saccadic attention. However, what scientists found is that when the object changes suddenly, 'a split second before our gaze falls upon it,' it makes it harder for us to process what changed. The study was published in PLOS Biology.

"Our study provides an interesting counterpoint to many previous studies which suggested that pre-saccadic attention is always beneficial," said Associate Professor at CNS and the corresponding author of the study Devarajan Sridharan. Researchers also opined that these changes can be useful to understand how we track multiple objects in rapidly changing environments - driving or flight simulators, and help us analyse them better.

To verify the claim, scientists trained human volunteers to monitor line patterns presented on a screen, without directly looking at them and asked them to report when one of the lines tilted slightly. "Importantly, the participants did this task just before their eyes moved, in the pre-saccadic window. So, we were able to study the relationship between pre-saccadic attention and the detection of changes in the visual environment. To our surprise, participants found it harder to detect the changes in the pre-saccadic window," said Priyanka Gupta, a PhD student.

In a follow-up experiment, they made the participants monitor two lines presented one after the other quickly, and found that if the orientation of the second line suddenly changed, the participants tended to mix up the orientations, which explained the loss of the attention.

CAN HELP DEVELOP TREATMENTS FOR ADHD

The other research published in Science Advances carried out with collaborators at Stanford University, tried the reverse – decoupling attention from eye movements – in monkeys. The goal was to figure out what is happening with neurons in the brain. The researchers believe that uncovering such brain signatures can point to what fails in attention disorders. Sridharan added that discovering such mechanisms is vital for developing therapies for disorders like ADHD. "The monkeys monitored several lines on a computer screen without directly looking at them. But when any one line tilted slightly, the monkeys had to look away from it instead of focusing more sharply on it," said the IISc release. Scientists recorded signals from hundreds of neurons across different layers of visual cortex area V4, and found that neurons in the more superficial layers of the cortex generated attention signals, while neurons in deeper layers produced eye movement signals.

If compromise norms not met in cheque bounce case, sentence must be restored: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

WHILE setting aside the order of conviction and sentence in cheque bounce cases when the convicted offers himself for the settlement of the dispute by way of compromise through the Lok Adalat, trial courts should mandatorily observe in their order that any violation of terms of the compromise will automatically restore the sentencing and conviction from the stage where it was stopped before the trial court, the Karnataka High Court has said.

It referred to guidelines laid down by the Supreme Court on the settlement in a cheque dishonour case for offences punishable under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act. It said that one such direction is that if the application for compounding is made before the concerned court or the high court, such an offer should be allowed only on the condition that the accused pays 15 per cent of the cheque amount by way of costs.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order while restoring the order of conviction and sentence dated August 26, 2015 against accused RB Green Field Agro Infra, represented by proprietor Rakshith, who got away with conviction through compromise in a cheque bounce case filed by Hemachandra M Kuppalli by playing fraud on the court and not paying the money settled in the Lok Adalat.

Rakshith had issued a cheque for Rs 49 lakh to Hemachandra and it was dishonoured in January 2014 for insufficient funds. The petitioner filed a case and it was allowed in 2015 by the magistrate court which convicted Rakshith and sentenced him to pay a fine of Rs 29.10 lakh. Rakshith filed an appeal before the sessions court which referred to Lok Adalat for settlement in 2016. Rakshith undertook to pay Rs 29 lakh in installments but failed to do so.

The petitioner filed an execution petition before the concerned court in 2017 but there has been no progress for six the last years though non-bailable warrant, fine levy warrant and arrest warrant were not executed against the accused. The high court noted that the settlement was arrived at before the Lok Adalat only to get the hanging sword of conviction taken away. It directed the sessions court to expedite the case of execution.

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

IT was a timer-based improvised explosive device (IED) with nuts and bolts that hit customers and employees at Rameshwaram Cafe in the city on Friday afternoon, leaving nine people injured, who were rushed to a nearby private hospital.

There was smoke soon after the blast, which further confirmed that it was a low-intensity IED. The composition of the bomb, which is suspected to be ammonium nitrate with or without fuel, perhaps diesel, and an embedded timer device, is being analysed by the Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL). The timer would have vapourised in the blast. The people in the cafe reported being deaf for some time because of the loud sound.

Director General & Inspector General of Police (DG&IGP) Alok Mohan confirmed that it was an IED blast. The Intelligence Bureau (IB) and National Investigation Agency have been roped in for the blast investigation, he added. The state is on alert following the blast.

According to sources, who didn't wish to be named, the bomb blast has come as a "shock and surprise" to the police. "The intention behind the blast was not obviously to kill people but to send a message to the government and law enforcers. The timing, on the threshold of Parliament elections, is of importance and should not be taken lightly," they said. "The investigation will throw up the module behind planting the IED. There have been terror-related arrests in the last two years in the state. That was an indication enough that some covert activity was going on and that all was not okay," they said.

In July last year, Bengaluru city police, on inputs from the Central agencies, had arrested five alleged terror suspects from RT Nagar. They were allegedly radicalised by the Lashkar-e-Taiba-associated prisoner and accused in the 2008 serial blast case Tadiyandavede Nasir from Kerala. In November 2022, Mohd Shariq, an alleged ISIS-inspired terrorist, was carrying a pressure cooker IED in an autorickshaw when it exploded midway in Mangaluru. The NIA had chargesheeted Shariq and his associate Syed Yasin in the case for planning to plant the IED at Kadri Manjunatha Temple in Mangaluru to create terror among a section of people. In 2020, Shariq was arrested by the Karnataka police for pro-terror graffiti in support of the IS in Mangaluru city along with his associates. He was also named in the Shivamogga IS conspiracy case of 2022, in which so far 10 accused have been arrested.

BJP SAYS STATE UNDER THREAT, SEEKS NIA PROBE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE BJP has demanded that the Karnataka government hand over the Rameshwaram Cafe bomb blast investigation to the National Investigation Agency (NIA).

Speaking to the media here, state BJP president BY Vijayendra said that ever since the Congress came to power in the state last year, there have been a series of incidents threatening Karnataka's safety. "Bomb blast at Rameshwaram Cafe is an extended part of pro-Pakistan slogans heard inside Vidhana Soudha during the recent Rajya Sabha polls," Vijayendra said.

Further, Vijayendra said that the Congress government, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, and DyCM DK Shivakumar are tolerating Congress' 'My Brother Policy' which is posing a threat to Karnataka's safety. "Congress' appeasement of Minorities is posing a threat to the state's security," he said.

Vijayendra said that the FSL report on the pro-Pakistan slogans issue has confirmed that the slogan was indeed pro-Pakistan. "The State Government is trying to hide and close this case. The government is soft towards anti-national elements and anti-social elements. People are at the receiving end," he said. Vijayendra also demanded the State Government make the FSL report public.

Vijayendra demanded that the CM take the Rameshwaram Café blast as a serious incident and hand over the investigation to the NIA without any further delay. "We are not indulging in politics. The state is under threat," he reiterated.

Vijayendra also said two BJP workers were killed recently in Kalaburagi. "BJP workers are also under threat," he added.

Leader of Opposition R Ashoka said that the State Government is trying to make 'Bomb Bengaluru'. "It is fine if they don't make 'Brand Bengaluru'... they should not make 'Bomb Bengaluru'," he said. He also demanded that the State Government bear the medical expenses of the injured.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

OF the 10 people injured in the Rameshwaram Cafe blast on Thursday afternoon, a 46-year-old woman has suffered 40% burns and has been admitted to Brookfield Hospital in Kundalahalli. The woman, identified as Swarnamba, is an employee at an IT firm in the city.

Dr Pradeep Kumar TJ, General Medicine Consultant, Brookefield Hospital said that Swarnamba has suffered burns to her face, hands, legs, and thighs. She needs to undergo plastic surgery and has been moved to the ICU.

Apart from her, two others were rushed to Brookefield Hospital for treatment. They are Farukh Hussain (19) and Dweepanshu (23). While Farukh is an employee at Rameshwaram Cafe, Dweepanshu is an IT employee.

Dr Pradeep Kumar said that all three have eardrum injuries. Farukh also has splinter injuries. "An X-ray was taken. But we are unable to ascertain what are the foreign objects that have penetrated his skin," he said. In the case of Dweepanshu, he is in a state of shock and his eardrums are affected. He needs to undergo audiometry tests, the doctor added. Dr Kumar added that all the patients were in a state of shock.

Restaurants worry about nod to staying open till 1 am

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE bomb blasts that took place at Rameshwaram Cafe have raised concerns among hotels and restaurants owners. They are now worried whether they will be allowed to start operations till 1 am that was permitted by the state government in the recent state budget.

Sources from the hotels and restaurants association said, "We had made multiple attempts in the past seeking permission to operate round the clock, but were denied citing security reasons. Now with this blast, it looks like we will be back to square one."

The owner of a Bengaluru-based restaurant said such incidents can occur any time and at any place. It does not mean that hotels and restaurants are not safe. It is the duty of the police to ensure that there are adequate security arrangements.

Another hotel owner said the blast had an impact on the sales in some eateries in the city. People seemed speculative, but this is only temporary. "A lot of people in Bengaluru depend on restaurants for their three square meals on a daily basis. Things will get back to normal soon, but seeking permission to keep restaurants open for late night hours, will have an impact," the owner said.

Veerendra Kamath, secretary, Bruhat Bengaluru Hotels and Restaurants Association, said a meeting will be held with all owners and members to to discuss on what more safety measures need to be taken. "Hotels and restaurants try to ensure that all safety measures are in place. There is no need for people to panic. All hotels and restaurants follow all the safety norms that are prescribed by the police," he said.

BLAST NEAR WASH BASIN AREA CAUSED LOUD BOOM, SMOKE

THE explosion site was filled with nuts and bolts and blood stains as several were injured. The roof of the restaurant was completely damaged. Smoke was visible for almost 500 metres. Incidentally, there was a smaller crowd compared to Saturdays or Sundays and most customers were IT professionals who had come for lunch. Ten, including senior citizens and women, sustained injuries in the blast.

The impact of the blast was so intense that a woman sustained severe burns. Two senior citizens, including a woman, sustained injuries after broken glass pieces of the restaurant hit them. Another woman, who fell unconscious, went unnoticed for a few minutes before she was tended to by the customers and was rushed to the hospital. A restaurant worker also sustained injuries. All injured are undergoing treatment in nearby private hospitals.

Ramesh, a security guard of the restaurant who has been working for the last six months, told TNIE that the explosion was so loud that he could not hear anything for some time. "The sound was unbearable. I saw people running helter-skelter. A few customers were badly injured. The blast happened near the wash basin area which is behind the hotel. All I could hear was a boom. I do not have any idea what was the source of the blast. Initially, we suspected that it could be a cylinder blast. We immediately reported the matter to the police," Ramesh added.

Another guard, Sachin Lamani from Raichur, who was guarding outside the hotel, said he saw huge flames following the unbearable sound. Lamani has been working in the restaurant for the last three months. Another eyewitness, Mohan, said he heard the sound from a long distance. "After I came near the restaurant, I saw people badly injured and some of them severely bleeding."

Divya Raghavendra Rao, Founder and Managing Director of the restaurant, said, "This was not a cylinder explosion. All our cylinders are secure inside the kitchen, and we have not identified any lapses in safety measures. We have granted the police access to all our CCTV cameras, and the bomb squad also checked the measures and the restaurant premises to determine the cause. We are fully cooperating with law enforcement agencies." She said, "Our thoughts are with the injured and their families, and we are offering them all the support, assistance and care they need and pray for their speedy recovery."

The HAL police have registered a case under the provisions of the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act and Explosive Substances Act.

CASTE CENSUS: COMMUNITY HEADS SET FOR LONG BATTLE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

EVEN as Chief Minister Siddaramaiah clarified that the socio-economic survey, also known as the caste survey, will be discussed in the cabinet before taking any further action, the Veerashaiva Lingayat and Vokkaliga leadership, cutting across party lines, have started opposing the report calling it "unscientific, politically motivated and obsolete".

Karnataka State Commission for Backward Classes (KSCBC) chairman Jayaprakash Hegde submitted the report with certain recommendations to the CM on Thursday.

"According to the report, Muslims account for 70 lakh and if so, how can they become a Minority? When their number is more than other castes, they cannot become the Minority. The government owes a reply," BJP leader and former CM Basavaraj Bommai said.

"Siddaramaiah was the CM when the Kantharaj report was ready, but he didn't accept it on account of the 2018 Assembly polls. There was a lot of confusion about the report at that time as the commission had claimed to have contacted 5.82 crore people... but many of them disputed that claim. Now the report that is submitted is that of former chairman of the commission H Kantharaj, but Jayaprakash Hegde claims it is his," he pointed out.

The population of the Veerashaiva Lingayat community in the state is more than 2 crore. "However, there is a suspicion that the number has been reduced on purpose. I have got information that the report shows that the population of our community is only 65 lakh. That's a lie," alleged senior Congress MLA Shamanuru Shivashankarappa, who is also the president of the All India Veerashaiva Mahasabha. He urged the government not to accept the report, issuing a warning that he will not sit back but will fight for the community. He expressed displeasure that a nine-year-old report had been brought back and insisted on a scientific survey again.

The head of Sri Siddaganga Mutt Sri Siddalinga Swami also expressed his reservation about the report as he claimed that the persons concerned did not meet him when they claimed to have conducted the survey.

State Vokkaligara Sangha president D Hanumantaiah said that if the government discloses the report which is "unscientific" and proceeds with its implementation, there will be a fierce struggle against it.

But Dalit leader Mavalli Shankar said that the CM has accepted the report as he had promised the same during the January 28 rally of the AHINDA communities in Chitradurga to give social justice to the communities deprived of opportunities.

Not aware about submission of report, says government advocate

The Karnataka High Court on Friday directed the State Government to file an affidavit on whether the Karnataka State Commission for Backward Classes (KSCBC) has submitted the caste census report or not. The division bench of Chief Justice N V Anjaria and Justice T G Shivashankare Gowda issued the direction after hearing submissions made by the senior counsel representing the petitioner, and the government advocate. When the court took up the public interest litigation filed by various organisations questioning the constitutional and legal competence of the state to amend the KSCBC Act to conduct the caste census, the senior counsel submitted that the report was submitted to the chief minister on Thursday. However, the government advocate submitted that "we were not aware about the submission of report. I have no instructions about it and will get back with the instructions". ENS

Buzz over BJD-BJP alliance continues in Odisha

PM to visit state on Biju Patnaik's birth anniv; Odisha to go for simultaneous polls for LS and Assembly

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bhubaneswar

WITH Lok Sabha elections less than two months away, speculation over an alliance between the ruling BJD and BJP continues in Odisha with no official confirmation about it from either of the parties.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi's scheduled visit to Odisha on March 5-- the birth anniversary of the late Biju Patnaik—has only added credence to the murmurs of an alliance between the two erstwhile allies.

However, the alliance talks going on since Modi's visit to Sambalpur last month should be seen from a different perspective. Why is BJD, which continues to enjoy a majority in the Assembly in the last three elections, showing an interest in an alliance with he BJP?

Senior leaders from both sides maintain that the popularity of Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik has gone down a notch or two since the last time. They fear that this might impact the prospects of BJD if there is a triangular contest between the ruling party, BJP, and Congress. For this, a tie-up with BJP is an option left with BJD to ride back to power.

However, BJD will have to sacrifice Lok Sabha seats for this possible bargain.

As the BJD supremo has not shown any ambition at the national level, senior leaders of the regional outfit maintain that there will be no problem for the party to contest in a lesser number of LS seats.

In both BJD and BJP, there is speculation that the regional outfit will have a lion's share of Assembly seats. This will certainly be more than 83 Assembly seats which the BJD used to contest from when it had an alliance with the BJP till 2004. BJP sources claim that the party will contest from at least 14 LS seats. This may be also the reason why BJD has not started any serious exercise to select candidates from the LS polls in Western Odisha.

The PM's visit on March 5 also assumes significance. It is the birth anniversary of legendary Biju Patnaik on whose name the BJD was founded. There is speculation that Modi may make some big announcements while addressing the public meeting at Chandikhole. Bharat Ratna for the late Biju Patnaik is a long-standing demand of BJD.

Meanwhile, the statement of the saffron party's co-election in-charge in Odisha Lata Usendi that there will be a double-engine government in Odisha has further added to the growing speculation.

Govt gears up to tackle drinking water crisis

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ANTICIPATING more drinking water crisis in the coming days, Revenue Minister Krishna Byregowda said he has directed officials to take steps to tackle the situation and ensure fodder for cattle.

Speaking to reporters on Friday, Byregowda said the government has called for tenders to supply drinking water through private tankers. "I have even directed taluk and Panchayat officials to keep private water tankers ready. In case of crisis, one should be able to supply water within 24 hours through tankers. We will get water from private borewells too," he said.

Task forces headed by MLAs have conducted over 600 meetings and Rs 856 crore has been released to districts. "Officials have been told to pay bills of tankers and borewells once in 15 days. Deputy Commissioners were told to pay uncleared bills," he said.

In Bengaluru, the DC will speak to BBMP officials to address water issues. "The Revenue Department is paying money. In Bengaluru, there is an issue on the outskirts," he said. As private tanker water is costly in Bengaluru, the BBMP will fix the price. Only if required, new borewells will be allowed to dig, he added.

On fodder shortage, the minister said they have called tenders to procure fodder in 25 districts and some are in stock. If needed, the government will take help from goshalas. "We have directed officials to make arrangements for fodder banks," he said.

A beggar involved in begging on the Pune-Bengaluru national highway was recently apprehended by the Beggar's Rehabilitation Centre in Gonuru. Later, it was found that the individual is wanted in a significant criminal case.

Pylara Vamshi (22) was found begging on the highway and wandering suspiciously. On being questioned by the superintendent of the rehabilitation centre, Vamshi said he works in the construction industry and was on his way to work. They took him to the centre, and during grilling, Vamshi disclosed that he was involved in crimes in Telangana and there are cases against him in Mailardevpally police station limits. The officials contacted the Telengana police with details given to them by Vamshi. Police officers advised the officials not to release the suspect.

OVERALL GDP GROWTH SURPRISES, BUT ITS PARTS REMAIN UNEVEN

INDIA'S GDP growth rate is pegged at an enviable 7.6 percent for 2023-24, much higher than all consensus estimates. But a closer analysis confirms that the cheer good numbers are largely due to the downward revision of output in 2021-22 and 2022-23, which in turn led to an upward revision of the current year forecasts. Likewise, though the third quarter's unexpected 8.4 percent growth quickened the pulse, it needs to be viewed with caution. The jump was not because of a blistering addition of overall national output, but because of higher tax collections and lower subsidies. The current fourth quarter, which often sees subdued government spending, is expected at register 5.9 percent growth, which some believe is conservative. On balance, the Indian economy is certainly doing better than advanced and emerging economies despite global headwinds.

While the headline number appears respectable, a cursory glance tells us that the growth is not broad-based yet. On the production side, agriculture and allied sectors are flashing the biggest distress signal, having contracted in the third quarter, its revival is essential for overall poverty reduction. Worryingly, for the full 2023-24, the primary sector's growth is pegged at a dismal 1.2 percent, which partly explains the slack in private consumption. A pickup in demand in the third quarter was highly anticipated given the festive season, but it remained weak at 3.5 percent, against 7.1 percent the year before. On the other hand, private investment outpaced consumption, where industrial sector, led by manufacturing and construction, is contributing meaningfully to the growth momentum.

What we need is broad-based growth, where all sectors live up to their potential. Chief among them is private consumption, which accounts for a substantial 57 percent of the GDP. Given the weak consumer sentiment, its share to the overall GDP is likely to settle at a decadal low of 55.5 percent this fiscal, while the share of investments is expected to touch a decadal high of 34.1 percent. The growth momentum driven by investments, notwithstanding the contraction in government consumption, will likely continue over the next fiscal, which is good. But unless private consumption regains its appetite, the unevenness of growth would not subside. During 2023-24, it is estimated to grow by just 3 percent, against 4.4 percent estimated earlier. Undeniably, households are getting squeezed by stagnant incomes and high inflation. This is worrisome and needs urgent correction.

ONUS ON KERALA CPM AFTER DAMNING VERDICTS

THE 2012 murder of Revolutionary Marxist Party leader T P Chandrasekharan has returned to haunt the ruling CPM in Kerala and the timing cannot be worse. In two crucial back-to-back verdicts ahead of the parliamentary elections, the Kerala High Court has not only upheld the life sentence awarded to 10 convicts, including some CPM leaders, and set aside the trial court order acquitting two other party functionaries, but also enhanced the punishment for nine to life imprisonment without remission for 20 years. Quoting Nobel laureate Amartya Sen, the court aptly said, "Democracy thrives on the peaceful exchange of ideas, not the violent imposition of beliefs. Political violence is the poison that corrodes the roots of democratic principles." While being exemplary in nature, the twin verdicts have destroyed the CPM's claim that the party had nothing to do with the killing.

If the high court's reversal of two CPM leaders' acquittal was not damaging enough, a report by the additional district probation officer of Kozhikode said K C Ramachandran, a local leader who was sentenced to life for being one of the key conspirators, "has no guilt feeling" even after long years of confinement; another by the Kannur district probation officer said CPM sympathisers were providing a monthly assistance of ₹5,000 to the family of Muhammed Shafi, a member of the killer gang. While the RMP has consistently maintained the murder was carried out at the instance of top CPM leadership, there are enough reasons to suspect that the arm of the law did not go beyond the local leaders because of either collusion at the highest levels or inefficiencies.

Coming on the back of a Mavelikkara court order awarding the death sentence to 15 PFI activists for the murder of a BJP leader in 2021, the high court verdicts hold out hope against the continuing chain of political murders in Kerala. That Chandrasekharan, a former CPM leader who rebelled and formed his own outfit, was seen as a political threat was reason enough to eliminate him shows how violence is ingrained in state politics. As the high court pointed out, the crime threatened to undermine democratic principles. For the CPM now, mere arguments may not be enough to shake off the responsibility. It must do something tangible to show it has distanced itself from the killers and shunned the politics of violence for good.

QUICK TAKE

CEASEFIRE AND PROBE FOR GAZA

OF all the shocking incidents in Israel's months-long carnage in Gaza, the recent massacre of more than 100 hungry civilians was perhaps the most appalling. The authorities say 112 Palestinians were killed and more than 750 wounded when Israeli soldiers opened fire on them as they swarmed around food rations. After the incident, UN relief chief Martin Griffiths, who has repeatedly warned of a famine in the occupied enclave, posted, "Life is draining out of Gaza at terrifying speed." Gaza not only needs an immediate ceasefire, but the latest incident needs an independent probe. We need it to heal the tattered conscience of humanity.

A decline in India's poverty level to around 8 percent is plausible. But though a fall to around 5 percent is possible, it requires detailed validation

LET US NOT BE POOR IN HOW WE MEASURE POVERTY

BIBEK DEBROY

Chairman, Economic Advisory Council to the Prime Minister

SOURAV ROY

THERE has been a lot of interest in the factsheet just released by the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation on the latest Household Consumption Expenditure Survey (HCES). The interest is understandable. We haven't had the HCES since 2011-12. There was one such survey in 2017-18, but data weren't released. Therefore, any information on poverty and inequality was either based on 2011-12 numbers, extrapolations of those, or data sources not quite robust and reliable.

In case someone mentions the Multi-dimensional Poverty Index (MDPI), reports by UNDP and the Niti Aayog using it, that's not quite a measurement of poverty as we have traditionally defined and understood it. MDPI is based on three dimensions of 'poverty'—health, education and living standards. There is no denying the importance of such indicators in capturing development, but health and education indicators (nutrition, child mortality, years of schooling, school attendance) should be explanatory variables for poverty. They don't quite measure poverty. Living standards indicators are what the government has sometimes dubbed "basic necessities" and, indeed, ensuring that every individual or household has access to these is part of the inclusion agenda pushed by the government.

Having said that, in January 2024, the Niti Aayog released a discussion paper. The last proper MDPI computations for India are based on NFHS-5 (National Family Health Survey) for 2019-21. The discussion paper extrapolated NFHS-5 and estimated an MDPI-based poverty ratio of 11.28 percent in 2022-23. This was an all-India number. It wasn't separately disaggregated into rural/urban, though there was disaggregation according to states.

Often, greater sophistication in definitions and measurements doesn't help incrementally, because development indicators are often correlated with one another. A simple measure will provide as much illumination as a more complicated one, even though the latter possesses greater intellectual rigour. That was one virtue of the UNDP's Human Development Index—it was simple to understand.

Traditionally, poverty measurements involved defining a poverty line and obtaining data (such as the HCES) to compute what percentage of households (separately rural/urban and states) were below that poverty line, the so-called head-count ratio. This too was simple to understand. (We don't have official surveys on income distributions. Our official surveys are on consumption expenditure, and inequality based on consumption expenditure will be lower than that based on income.) There is an international poverty line (per-capita per-day expenditure) based on purchasing power parity (PPP) prices. As economies develop, the poverty line ought to change, increasing upwards. Our understanding of 'basic necessities' changes.

The international poverty line can be $1.9, $2.15, $3.65, or even higher. Most measures will use $1.9 or $2.15 (these are based on 2017 prices). In 2022, the World Bank published a policy research working paper on poverty in India. Using $2.15, it computed a head-count ratio of 10 percent in 2019, a decline from 22.5 percent in 2011. The figure was 11.9 percent for rural India and 6.4 percent for urban India. Notice two points about these numbers. First, MDPI poverty of 11.28 percent in 2022-23 and PPP poverty of 10 percent in 2019. The years don't correspond exactly, but they do roughly. This is what I meant by different approaches, with differing degrees of sophistication and methodology, validating each other. We are now in 2024. Four years ago, we can roughly agree that poverty in India was 10 percent. Second, the World Bank found a decline in poverty by about 1.5 percent a year, Niti Aayog by about 2 percent. Very roughly again, not a great difference.

People are excited because the HCES now enables us to gauge poverty and inequality more precisely—sort of. Note that we don't use the international poverty line. Our poverty line is based on what the Tendulkar Committee recommended. There was a Rangarajan Committee which recommended a different poverty line higher than Tendulkar's, but that was never officially accepted. The official one still continues to be Tendulkar, which corresponds to $1.9 PPP. Tendulkar hasn't been replaced by MDPI, not officially. The numbers in 2011-12 were the following—head-count ratios of 25.7 percent for rural India according to Tendulkar and 30.9 percent by Rangarajan; head-count ratios of 13.7 percent for urban India according to Tendulkar and 26.4 percent by Rangarajan. That's the baseline, so to speak. Care is called for. We only have a fact sheet, not unit-level data. This is a 2022-23 survey. There will be another one, back-to-back, in 2023-24, to check for robustness. Methodology has changed, rendering the two sets of numbers non-comparable. Ideally, there should have been another sample, using both the old methodology and the new, to check whether apples are being compared with oranges. But there are people who think fruit juice is fruit juice, regardless of whether it comes from apples or oranges.

Therefore, it is tempting to do the following: use inflation rates from the HCES factsheet to figure out what the Tendulkar poverty line is for 2022-23. Naturally, this will be separately done for rural and urban households. The factsheet gives us the distribution of monthly per capita consumption expenditure across fractile classes (fractile is similar to percentile). The bottom 0-5 percent and the bottom 5-10 percent should suffice. Those are the fractiles where poverty will be concentrated. SBI Research has come out with one such calculation and finds a poverty ratio (in 2022-23) of 7.15 percent for rural India and 4.62 percent for urban India. For rural India, compared to 2011-12, this is a decline of 1.7 percent a year; for urban India, 0.8 percent a year.

These numbers are for 2022-23. For 2020, I mentioned a rough figure of 10 percent. Note that the SBI Research numbers are significantly below 10 percent. A factsheet is based on facts and one can't quarrel with facts and numerical calculations. But note that consumption (and income) distributions tend to be normal, not symmetric. When the thick part of the distribution passes above a poverty line, declines in poverty ratios are sharp, not linear. But after that, it becomes more difficult. In many countries, poverty ratios thus get stuck at around 5 percent.

I think a decline to around 8 percent in India would have been regarded as plausible, a priori. A decline to around 5 percent is possible, but requires detailed probing and validation. Note also that poverty declines have been relatively less in urban India, highlighting a rural/urban convergence, but also some urban problems. Everyone will wait expectantly for the 2023-24 survey. (Views are personal)

KARNATAKA FARM DISTRESS REQUIRES URGENT RELIEF

R S DESHPANDE

Nanjundappa Chair Professor, CMDR, and former director, Institute for Social and Economic Change

THIS year's drought has shaken Karnataka's economy once again. During the past three years, Karnataka posted impressive growth rates of 9.8 percent, 8.1 percent and 6.6 percent in its GSDP. Now there is a dark shadow over this performance.

The growth was contributed largely by the services and industrial sectors, which shadow the performance of agricultural sector. Unfortunately, the growth in the agricultural sector has been pathetic. This implies an uneven structural growth in income generation across sectors and that is a catalyst for increasing income inequality between sectors—between farmers and non-farmers. On top of this, it's disturbing that between the census years of 1991 and 2011, the number of cultivators in the state declined by 3.03 lakh and a few lakh hectares of net sown area has gone out of agriculture.

Among the factors behind the drag in agricultural growth is the state's large share of drought-prone areas and the frequent visitation of droughts. Every drought resets development initiatives. History is replete with instances when droughts have manifested into dreadful famines during 18th and 19th centuries. Karnataka has had an unfair share of such devastating experiences.

The Second Irrigation Commission of India (1972) and the Agricultural Commission of 1976 identified Karnataka as having second highest share of drought-prone areas, with a probability as high as 20 percent. That indicates the onslaught of drought once every five years and the history of last six decades confirms this.

Once a farmer is struck by severe drought, it takes three normal years for him to get back to normality. By that time, another calamity strikes, inflicting a pathetic situation on the farm sector. No wonder, Karnataka was known as one of the leading regions in farmer suicides. This time, Karnataka had a 73 percent aggregate deficit in rainfall, but it was spread over two seasons—there were prolonged dry spells and sudden spans of heavy rainfall. Both events are agronomically detrimental to crop growth. The footsteps of drought were quite loud in August 2023. The conditions further deteriorated by the time farmers reached the second season. By October 2023, the signs of the looming disaster were visible.

During the first phase of a drought, the impact is on the net and gross area sown, thereby reducing production. This also impacts farm employment and, consequently, reduces the purchasing power of those who depend on agriculture. Small and marginal farmers join the band of labourers, thereby swelling the ranks of job seekers. This year, as a result of the dry spell in kharif season, many small and marginal farmers have chosen to migrate for construction work in Bengaluru and other cities. Second, with the speculation of a low harvest, food prices have started moving up. Speculators try to use such a situation. A cruel irony is that these exploiters get an opportunity for extracting profits from small and marginal farmers. The vulnerable groups among cultivators tend to sell off or pledge farm assets, livestock and even land, which pushes them out of cultivation in the next season.

EXPRESS

Karnataka is facing an intense double drought this year. Lakhs are pledging their assets and migrating to cities in search of jobs. If the Centre wants to avoid severe agrarian distress, it needs to meet the state's demand for ₹18,171 crore in drought relief

In the absence of institutional back-up in soft loans for consumption or crop credit, these groups tend to borrow from village money-lenders at exorbitant rates; as a result, small and marginal cultivators are pushed irreversibly into the ranks of agricultural labourers. This also induces out-migration to urban areas.

The drought this year is quite intense. The state government has declared 223 taluks as drought-affected, out of which 196 are severely affected. This year's drought is spread in two phases—a part in the pre-sowing season spoiled the farm preparation efforts and cultivators waited to make good their losses. In some areas, the farmers had to sow the crops a second time, and that increased the losses. Employment and the area sown declined, but some crops survived under the late spell of rains.

The early rabi season dry-spell further complicated the situation in the absence of availability of protective irrigation. Already-sown areas suffered input losses and only cultivators with strong resources could sustain rabi cultivation. Small and marginal farmers and agricultural labourers left the rural market in search of higher wages.

The intermittent spells of rain at least allowed some green fodder for the cattle. But the major disturbing factor was that the kharif and rabi droughts have come in succession. In such a situation, the final impact, without timely intervention from the government, can cause large-scale destitution in the farm sector. That will create severe agrarian distress. Every drought devastates rural life and resets the development efforts. The Karnataka government has always been proactive in addressing the problem. It is the only state which stated a Drought Monitoring Cell way back in 1987 and later upgraded it to the State Natural Disaster Monitoring Centre. It is the only state that has real-time rainfall data at the level of hoblis, or village clusters, for about 745 hoblis.

Following the Drought Manual of 2020, the state has estimated losses to the tune of ₹35,162 crore. So the state government has submitted a demand of ₹18,171.44 crore from the national and state disaster response funds to the central government. Such a demand often causes a debate between the Union and state governments. The inter-ministerial central team visited the state in October 2023 to estimate the relief requirement. It will be necessary for the Government of India to meet the intense need. It would, otherwise, lead to severe agrarian distress. (Views are personal)

Reset goals

Prioritise health

The rising incidents of stroke and heart attack among young adults need immediate attention. It is time for a fundamental shift in our priorities. Health must take precedence over the pursuit of professional achievements. One needs to be healthy to enjoy the fruits of success.

Tharoor's conviction

Shashi Tharoor has candidly explained his conviction in joining the Congress and his disinclination to 'surrender his Ram' to the BJP. He may be aware that after the assassination of Indira Gandhi, his party's landslide victory in the election was the result of an unwitting appropriation of Hindu votes. So the possibility of the BJP appropriating Ram cannot be blamed.

Crucial Cong meets to finalise 1st list of candidates next week

Congress leader

Gehlot, Pilot out of fray?

The Congress CEC meeting is likely to decide on the candidature of high-profile leaders such as Rahul Gandhi, Priyanka Gandhi and Digvijay Singh. Rajasthan leaders Ashok Gehlot and Sachin Pilot might not be in the fray.

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

CONGRESS will hold two crucial meetings — of the Working Committee (CWC) and the Central Election Committee (CEC) — next week to finalise the first list of candidates for the upcoming Lok Sabha elections. The party will also release its election manifesto simultaneously, according to sources privy to the developments.

The meeting of CWC, the apex decision-making body of the party, will deliberate on the candidate list and poll strategy, said sources.

A senior leader said that the central screening committees have finalised candidates for Lok Sabha seats in most states, barring a few. The CEC will discuss the panel of candidates prepared by the screening committees and take a final call. The committee is likely to decide candidates for about 100 seats, which include almost all northeastern states, Kerala, Madhya Pradesh and Goa, among others.

"Our screening committees have been working rigorously since January to zero in on possible candidates. We are much ahead of the BJP. The high command has held meetings with all state leaders and Pradesh Congress Committees (PCC). It is probably for the first time that the party made such efforts to close all gaps," said the leader.

Sources said that while finalising candidates, the CEC will also consider a survey report conducted by poll strategist Sunil Kanugolu on the performance rating of the sitting MPs in various states. It was learnt that the strategist has given a negative rating for at least four sitting MPs in Kerala. However, the screening committee has recommended all the 15 sitting MPs including Rahul Gandhi.

A final meeting of the screening committees of Uttar Pradesh, Punjab, Chandigarh, Jammu and Kashmir, Uttarakhand and Haryana also will be held next week. The candidates for the seats, where the party is in alliance with INDIA bloc partners will be decided in consultation with them.

The CEC may also decide on the candidature of high-profile leaders such as Rahul Gandhi, Priyanka Gandhi and Digvijay Singh. Rajasthan leaders Ashok Gehlot and Sachin Pilot might not be in the fray. In Madhya Pradesh, the party may contest in 28 of the 29 seats.

Cong manifesto may focus on farmers, caste census

The Congress is likely to release its 2024 Lok Sabha election manifesto next week. The thrust will be on farmers, welfare schemes for women and the young, nationwide caste census and 100% counting of VVPAT slips in elections, etc, if the party is voted to power in 2024. The party will also promise a loan waiver for farmers, a legalised MSP, and the creation of jobs, among others. The party had undertaken a massive exercise inviting suggestions from public for the manifesto.

Poll plan: BJP MPs told to reach out to voters with NaMo App

Around 378 MPs joined the interactions with Nadda. "We shared everything that makes the Namo App an effective tool of disseminating information about the government and taking people's feedback," said an MP.

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

A DAY after chairing a nine-hour meeting of the BJP's central election committee, party national president JP Nadda on Friday held a virtual interaction with the party's MPs to take feedback on 'NaMo App' and organisational activities ahead of the Lok Sabha polls.

A total of 378 Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha MPs, along with their handlers of social media platforms, joined the interaction with Nadda. "We shared everything that makes the NaMo App a more effective tool of disseminating information about the government's performances and gathering people's feedback," said an MP, wishing not to be named, adding that the party chief shared suggestions on the effective utilisation of NaMo App.

Discussions on party's activities and public outreach drives were held with the MPs, who shared their feedback and suggestions for LS elections.

Party leaders familiar with the development said that Nadda asked each of the MPs to speak about the government's commitment towards economical empowerment of women, marginalised sections and tribal communities through every platform. "Proper dissemination of information on what our government has done in the last 10 years among the people living in the remote parts of country must be ensured," Nadda told MPs.

The first meeting started with 126 MPs from Madhya Pradesh, Uttar Pradesh and Uttarakhand. "The second round of discussion related to NaMo App and other activities started virtually with 132 MPs from Bihar, Chandigarh, Chhattisgarh, Delhi, Himachal Pradesh, Jammu and Kashmir, Jharkhand, Ladakh, Punjab and Rajasthan. They all shared feedback on people's mood and government's activities related to empowerment of women and poor people," said a member of BJP.

Nadda then held discussions with 118 MPs from Andhra Pradesh, Arunachal Pradesh, Assam, Goa, Karnataka, Maharashtra, Manipur, Nagaland, Odisha, Puducherry, Sikkim, Telangana, Tripura and West Bengal.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday addressed meetings in West Bengal. The MPs from the state shared ground realities and feedback on government works.

The Sabha meets with its members once a year to deliberate upon various initiatives and also review the outcomes of several socio-culture activities conducted during the year.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

INDIA sealed five significant defence acquisition contracts worth ₹39,125 crore on Friday. These contracts for the procurement of BrahMos supersonic cruise missiles, radars, weapon systems, and aero-engines for MiG-29 jets, are aimed at enhancing the combat capabilities of the armed forces.

The decision to finalise these mega procurement projects comes amidst the ongoing border tensions with China in eastern Ladakh, demonstrating India's commitment to bolstering its defence preparedness. These contracts align with the Centre's broader policy to promote domestic manufacturing.

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh and Defence Secretary Giridhar Aramane oversaw the signing of these contracts, which are anticipated to strengthen indigenous capabilities, reduce dependency on foreign equipment, and conserve foreign exchange reserves.

Two separate deals were inked for the procurement of BrahMos missiles. The first involves acquiring BrahMos missiles from BrahMos Aerospace Private Ltd (BAPL) at a cost of ₹19,518.65 crore, catering to the Navy's combat and training needs. The second contract, valued at ₹988 crore, focuses on procuring ship-borne BrahMos systems, which will serve as the primary maritime strike weapon for the Indian Navy.

A deal was struck with Hindustan Aeronautics Limited (HAL) worth ₹5,249.72 crore for the RD-33 aero engines for MiG-29 aircraft. These engines, to be produced by HAL's Koraput division under transfer of technology from Russia, will sustain the operational capability of the MiG-29 fleet.

Larsen and Toubro too secured contracts for the procurement of a close-in weapon system and high-powered radar systems, valued at ₹7,668.82 crore and ₹5,700 crore, respectively. These acquisitions will bolster India's air defence capabilities, incorporating advanced surveillance features and promoting indigenous manufacturing technologies.

SC to hear AIM plea against HC's Gyanvapi order

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday agreed to hear the Anjuman Intezamia Masjid's (AIM) plea against an Allahabad High Court order directing that lawsuits for "restoration" of a temple, which was claimed to have stood where the mosque stands in Varanasi, are maintainable.

A bench headed by Chief Justice DY Chandrachud said, "We will tag this petition (appeal) with the main case". However, it did not fix any date to hear the appeal.

The Anjuman Intezamia Masjid — the committee that manages the affairs of the Gyanvapi mosque — has moved the top court challenging the high court's order holding the oldest suit (1991 suit) to be maintainable.

Appearing for the mosque committee, senior advocate Huzefa Ahmadi submitted that the SLP is about the high court's order holding the oldest suit to be maintainable.

On December 19, 2023, the Allahabad High Court dismissed pleas challenging the maintainability of a 1991 suit seeking "restoration" of a temple at the site where the Gyanvapi mosque stands.

Dismissing five related petitions on maintainability and against a survey of the mosque premises filed over the years by the mosque management committee and the Uttar Pradesh Sunni Central Waqf Board, the HC said the "religious character" of a disputed place can only be decided by the court.

It had held that the suit filed before the district court by Hindus is not barred by the Places of Worship (Special Provisions) Act, 1991, which forbids "conversion" of the "religious character" of a place from what existed on August 15, 1947.

The HC had held that the suit was filed seeking the right to worship in the Gyanvapi mosque adjoining the Kashi Vishwanath temple. Muslim litigants had challenged its maintainability, citing the Places of Worship (Special Provisions) Act.

The HC, on December 8 last year, had reserved its judgment on all five petitions challenging the maintainability of the suit pending before the Varanasi court.

It had said the 1991 law on places of worship did not define "religious character", which can only be determined through evidence presented in court by the opposing parties.

"Either the Gyanvapi compound has a Hindu religious character or a Muslim religious character. It can't have dual characters simultaneously," the HC had said.

Sena vs Sena case to be heard on Mar 7

The Supreme Court on Friday said it will list on March 7 the plea of the Shiv Sena Uddhav Thackeray faction challenging Maharashtra Assembly Speaker Rahul Narwekar's order declaring the faction led by Chief Minister Eknath Shinde as the "real political party" after the outfit's split in June 2022. It was to be heard on March 1.

Plea for MPs' digital monitoring binned

The court on Friday trashed a PIL seeking a direction to the Centre to digitally monitor MPs and MLAs round the clock for better governance. "There is something called right to privacy," said the bench, cautioning the petitioner, Surinder Nath Kundra, that he would be made to pay ₹5 lakh as fine for misusing judicial time.

Asaram Bapu's plea to suspend sentence rejected

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday rejected self-styled godman Asaram Bapu's petition challenging a Rajasthan High Court order, which dismissed his plea for suspension of sentence in a case where he was convicted for a minor's rape.

A two-judge bench of Justice Sanjiv Khanna and Dipankar Datta pronounced the order on Asaram's appeal.

However, the court clarified that the godman shall be at liberty to approach the high court to seek treatment at an Ayurvedic Hospital.

Former Attorney General of India and senior lawyer Mukul Rohatgi, appearing for Asaram, told the court that "Asaram was in an extreme and fatal medical emergency and rapidly deteriorating health conditions".

On the midnight of February 21, 2024, he had another episode of massive chest pain and was rushed to AIIMS Jodhpur, Rohatgi added.

Eighty-two-year old Asaram is currently serving a life sentence in Central Jail, Jodhpur.

Weighty worry: 12.5 mn kids obese in '22, says Lancet

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

ABOUT 12.5 million children in the age group of 5 to 19 in India were overweight in 2022, according to a latest report published in The Lancet journal.

The global analysis revealed that out of the 12.5 million, 7.3 million were boys, and 5.2 million were girls.

The Lancet study stated that in 2022, more than 1 billion people worldwide were living with obesity. Obesity among adults has more than doubled since 1990 and has quadrupled among children and adolescents.

The data shows that 43 per cent of adults were overweight in 2022. It also mentioned that although the rates of undernutrition (wasting, stunting, underweight) have dropped, it remains a public health challenge in many places, particularly in South-East Asia and sub-Saharan Africa.

The analysis by the NCD Risk Factor Collaboration (NCD-RisC) — a global network of scientists — and the World Health Organisation (WHO) estimates that among the world's children and adolescents, the rate of obesity in 2022 was four times the rate in 1990.

"It is concerning that the epidemic of obesity evident among adults in much of the world in 1990 is now mirrored in school-aged children and adolescents," said senior author Professor Majid Ezzati, from Imperial College London in the UK.

"At the same time, hundreds of millions are still affected by undernutrition, particularly in some of the poorest parts of the world. To successfully tackle both forms of malnutrition, it is vital that we significantly improve the availability and affordability of healthy, nutritious foods," Ezzati said.

According to WHO, obesity is an abnormal or excessive accumulation of fat that poses health risks. A body mass index (BMI) over 25 is considered overweight, and over 30 is obese.

Among adults, the global obesity rate more than doubled in women and nearly tripled in men. In total, 159 million children and adolescents and 879 million adults were living with obesity in 2022, the study said.

In India, the adult obesity rate increased from 1.2 percent in 1990 to 9.8 percent in 2022 for women and from 0.5 percent to 5.4 percent for men.

Nearly 44 million women and 26 million men had obesity in 2022.

Between 1990 and 2022, the proportion of the world's children and adolescents affected by underweight fell by around one-fifth in girls and more than one-third in boys. The proportion of the world's adults affected by being underweight more than halved over the same period.

The obesity rate increased from 0.1 per cent in 1990 to 3.1 per cent in 2022 for girls and from 0.1 per cent to 3.9 per cent in 2022 for boys.

The researchers analysed weight and height measurements from over 220 million people aged five years or older (63 million people aged five to 19 years, and 158 million aged 20 years or older), representing more than 190 countries.

MEA says 'deeply shocked' at loss of lives during aid distribution in Gaza

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA on Friday said it is "deeply shocked" at the loss of lives in northern Gaza during the delivery of humanitarian aid, a day after 112 people were killed in an incident.

"We are deeply shocked at the loss of lives in Northern Gaza yesterday during delivery of humanitarian assistance. Such loss of civilian lives and the larger humanitarian situation in Gaza continues to be a cause of extreme concern. We reiterate our call for safe and timely delivery of humanitarian aid and assistance," said Randhir Jaiswal, spokesperson of the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA).

On Thursday, 112 Palestinians were killed and more than 700 wounded in Gaza. They were waiting for humanitarian aid delivery, when they were attacked by Israeli forces.

This tragedy could be a stumbling block to the ceasefire that Qatar is trying to secure in exchange of Israeli hostages. US President Joe Biden spoke with the Emir of Qatar after the incident on Thursday. "I spoke with Emir Al Thani of Qatar

We reiterate our call for safe and timely delivery of humanitarian aid and assistance in Gaza

Randhir Jaiswal, MEA spokesperson

and President El Sisi of Egypt regarding Gaza and our efforts to secure the release of hostages. We also discussed the loss civilian life and importance of expanding the flow of humanitarian assistance into Gaza in response to the dire humanitarian situation," Biden said.

Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas termed it as an "ugly massacre". Medics in Gaza have been unable to cope up with the number of people with serious injuries. The death toll has crossed 30,000 according to Palestinian health authorities. Israel, however, refutes this number.

CPM urges govt to coordinate efforts to ensure ceasefire

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

EXPRESSING its shock over 112 Palestinians killed in firing by Israeli troops in Gaza, the Politburo of the Communist Party of India-Marxist (CPIM) on Friday criticised the Centre's silence over the issue. The party said it is highly regrettable that the Indian government has not spoken out when such massacres occur.

"This massacre was perpetrated on starving people who had collected food from aid trucks, which had entered the area. The genocidal attack on Gaza by Israel has led to more than 30,000 deaths of Palestinians so far," read a statement issued by the party.

The CPIM urged the government to urgently coordinate its efforts with countries of the Global South, such as South Africa, Brazil and the Arab countries, to ensure an immediate and permancent ceasefire.

Sukhu faces uphill task to defuse HP Cong rebellion

Vikramaditya Singh meets MLAs disqualified from the assembly

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

HIMACHAL Pradesh PWD Minister Vikramaditya Singh on Friday met the rebel Congress lawmakers disqualified from the assembly, indicating that the turbulence in the Congress still continues and uncertainty remains over the Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu-led government.

Chief Minister Sukhu however claimed that he had told Vikramaditya to meet the six rebel Congress MLAs after knowing that some of them want to return to the party.

The six MLAs were disqualified by the speaker under the anti-defection law after they cross-voted in the Rajya Sabha polls. Sukhu said Vikramaditya had informed him that some of the Congress rebels had approached him and wished to come back.

"I told Vikramaditya Singh to talk to these rebel MLAs and the Congress central leadership. The family members of these rebel MLAs were talking to them, and they want to be in the Congress,'' the chief minister said.

Sources said Vikramaditya met the rebel MLAs at a hotel in Chandigarh. Two rebels reportedly did not meet Vikramaditya. "These rebel legislators have accepted their mistake so their coming back to the party fold should be reconsidered as anything is possible in politics," a party leader said wishing not to be named.

Some party leaders said Vikramaditya, son of former CM Virbhadra Singh, was on his way to Delhi to meet Union minister Nitin Gadkari, adding that the minister might meet senior Congress leadership before taking his further step. In another indication of discontent in the Congress unit, Vikramaditya's mother and state Congress president Prabitbha Singh said, "A lot of things remain to be done in the Congress. As an MP, I keep visiting my constituency and try to interact with the local people and solve their problems. It is from their feedback that I have come to understand that the saffron party's working in the constituencies has been better than ours," she said.

Reacting to the meeting with the rebels, Bhupinder Hooda, who with DK Shivakumar and Bhupesh Baghel was deployed as a trouble-shooter, said everything was fine. "Minor differences keep occurring. Government will run its full term and the party will fight Lok Sabha elections unitedly," he said.

'Impressed with PM's work': Lalu MLA joins NDA

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

LALU Prasad's Rashtriya Janata Dal suffered another jolt on Friday when party MLA Bharat Bind sat with members of the ruling NDA inside the Bihar assembly, becoming the fifth legislator to have deserted the party in less than a month.

Bind, MLA from Bhabhua, entered the assembly with deputy chief minister and BJP state president Samrat Choudhary on the last day of the budget session. "I crossed over to the NDA as I was impressed by PM Narendra Modi's style of functioning," the MLA said.

On February 12, RJD MLAs Chetan Anand, Neelam Devi and Prahlad Yadav sat with NDA legislators ahead of the voting on CM Nitish Kumar's confidence motion. The three RJD MLAs supported the motion.

On Wednesday, RJD MLA Sangita Kumari, along with Murari Gautam and Siddharth Saurav of the Congress, followed Choudhary into the assembly, and sat beside the ruling coalition MLAs.

Meanwhile, Congress MLA Neetu Singh from Hisua declared that she would consider a switch if the BJP gives her a ticket in Lok Sabha polls.

Anantnag-Rajouri seat set to become political potboiler

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE newly created Anantnag-Rajouri Lok Sabha seat in Jammu and Kashmir may turn into a political battlefront in Jammu and Kashmir as all major political parties in the Union Territory want to contest from the seat and INDIA bloc parties are not willing to spare the seat for one another.

After abrogation of Article 370 and bifurcation of erstwhile J&K state into two UTs, there are five LS seats in the UT. Of them, two seats are in Jammu region while two (Srinagar and Baramulla seats) are in Valley and Anantnag-Rajouri seat connects south Kashmir's Shopian, Anantnag and Kulgam with the border districts of Rajouri and Poonch.

With the INDIA bloc parties set to contest the LS polls, the Anantnag-Rajouri seat is emerging as a bone of contention during alliance talks among NC, PDP and Congress.

All three parties are eyeing Anantnag-Rajouri seat as each of the party has a good support base in the areas falling in LS constituency.

Sources said that during negotiations, NC has been reluctant to leave the seat while PDP and Congress don't want to give up their claim. The NC has a solid reason to claim the seat with party's vice president and former J&K Chief Minister Omar Abdullah pitching that parties should retain the seats they won in 2019 polls. The PDP, which has its support base in south Kashmir, is keen for party chief and former CM Mehbooba Mufti to contest Anantnag-Rajouri seat to send a message that despite desertions the party is a force to reckon with and its support base is intact.

Keenly watched

Congress is also keen to contest from Anantnag-Rajouri seat along with two LS seats from Jammu region saying that the party has good presence and support base in Anantnag, Kulgam, Rajouri and Poonch districts. Even the J&K BJP chief Ravindra Raina is keen to contest from the seat.

OBC-Brahmin-Kshatriya formula for Vindhya seats

While the BJP brainstorms in Delhi to finaliase candidates on a sizable chunk of seats ahead of Lok Sabha polls, the ruling party may go for an OBC-Brahmin-Kshatriya formula on three unreserved seats of MP's Vindhya region. The party is mulling to field fresh faces on the three seats, particularly as four-times MP Ganesh Singh (an OBC leader) lost recent assembly polls from Satna segment, while second-time MP from Sidhi seat Riti Pathak won the assembly polls from Sidhi seat. Also, the party is planning to replace second-time sitting MP Janardan Mishra from Rewa seat this time with a fresh face.

Lone BAP MLA booked for assault, extortion

Kamleshwar Dodiyar, the lone Bhartiya Adivasi Party (BAP) MLA in Madhya Pradesh has been booked in tribal dominated Ratlam district for allegedly assaulting a medical store owner Tapan Roy and demanding ₹1 crore in extortion, after accusing Roy of indulging in illegal practices. The FIR has been lodged under Sections 384, 327, 323, 294 and 506 IPC on Roy's complaint. The first-time MLA from Sailana-ST seat of Ratlam district hails from a very humble background and had contested the 2023 polls through crowd-funding.

SP plans to expand base in Khajuraho

Dearth of strong candidate in the Congress and the Samajwadi Party's big plans of expanding in UP-MP's Bundelkhand region by building a base in Khajuraho seem to have clinched the Khajuraho Lok Sabha seat for the Akhilesh Yadav-led party in the recent Congress-SP seat sharing deal. According to sources, land has been purchased on Khajuraho's outskirts as part of SP's plans to expand its potential in Bundelkhand region. The SP, which has been finishing third or fourth in Khajuraho since 1999 LS polls, was primarily responsible for Congress's defeat from the seat in the 2004 polls. The Khajuraho seat has been won four times in the past by ex-CM Uma Bharti.

'Mission 80': BJP likely to contest 74 seats in UP, Apna Dal (S) & RLD 2 each

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

ACCORDING to highly placed sources, following the marathon meeting of its parliamentary party in New Delhi on Thursday, the BJP has decided to reserve 74 seats for itself in UP, leaving the remaining six for its allies.

The sources further indicate that the BJP may allot two seats each to Apna Dal(S) and RLD, and one seat each to SBSP and NISHAD.

Despite Apna Dal (S) demanding five seats this time, the ruling party is expected to allocate two to them. In the 2019 elections, Anupriya Patel, currently a Minister of State in the Modi government, contested from Mirzapur and Sonbhadra. In 2014, she contested from Pratapgarh and Mirzapur. Anupriya, the younger daughter of the popular Kurmi leader Sone Lal Patel, has won from Mirzapur in the last two elections and is likely to contest from Mirzapur and another constituency in eastern UP this time as well.

RLD, led by Jayant Chaudhury, which recently joined the NDA, is likely to receive two seats in western UP—Baghpat and Bijnor—along with other conditions of the alliance, including a ministerial berth for an RLD MLA in the Yogi cabinet and a Rajya Sabha membership for an RLD leader.

SBSP, led by OP Rajbhar, which rejoined the NDA last year after contesting the 2022 assembly polls with the SP, is expected to get the Ghosi seat in eastern UP. SBSP has been demanding three eastern UP seats–Ghosi,Ghazipur and Salempur – all having respectable chunk of Rajbhar community.

In this scenario, the BJP is expected to contest fewer seats than in 2019 and 2014 when it contested on 78 seats, leaving two for its ally Apna Dal (S).

BJP's game plan

- BJP to contest 74 of 80 UP LS seats, leaving 6 for allies
- Apna Dal (S) and RLD expected to get 2 seats each
- SBSP and NISHAD may receive 1 seat each
- Anupriya Patel likely to contest from Mirzapur and another constituency
- RLD projected to secure 2 seats in western UP

IMD: Expect warmer summer

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @New Delhi

MOST parts of the country are likely to witness a warmer start to the summer this year because of El Niño, the India Meteorological Department (IMD) predicted on Friday. The country may witness above normal maximum and minimum temperatures in most parts between March and May, IMD Director General Mrutyunjay Mohapatra said.

Telangana, Andhra Pradesh, parts of Karnataka, Maharashtra and Odisha may witness more heatwaves and higher temperatures than normal. But heatwave conditions are not expected over north and central India in March, he said.

El Niño refers to the unusual warming of surface waters in the eastern Pacific Ocean. In India, El Niño is known for weaker monsoon. However, IMD expects a transition to neutral conditions from El Niño by the beginning of the monsoon season, which may bring more rains during the southwest monsoon.

March will be hotter and likely receive above normal rainfall due to western disturbances. That could be a boon for the rabi wheat crop. Eight western disturbances—cyclonic storms originating in the Mediterranean region—brought rain and snow to the western Himalayan states for three days in winter.

Shinde MLAs come to blows in Maha Vidhan Sabha over project approvals

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

A major scuffle broke out between two Shiv Sena MLAs of the Shinde faction in the corridor of Vidhan Bhavan over the approval of project files during the Maharashtra state assembly's interim budget session on Friday.

Shiv Sena minister Dada Bhuse and another Sena MLA Mahendra Thorwe, engaged in a verbal altercation, which turned into a physical brawl with both attempting to push each other in the crowded corridor of Vidhan Bhavan.

Eyewitnesses reported that both MLAs exchanged insults and attempted physical assault, but timely intervention by bystanders prevented escalation.

Sources revealed that Chief Minister Eknath Shinde summoned both Bhuse and Thorwe for a closed-door meeting and reprimanded them, urging them to exhibit more decorum as elected representatives and avoid such public altercations.

"Chief Minister expressed particular displeasure with Minister Bhuse, emphasising that as a minister, he bears greater responsibility for his conduct and should not engage in disputes with fellow party MLAs," a source said.

Following the altercation, Thorwe spoke to the media, alleging that Dada Bhuse had shown disrespect towards elected representatives, treating them akin to village head or sarpanch. Thorwe claimed that despite personal requests and intervention by CM Shinde, Bhuse had delayed signing off on a project file pertaining to Thorwe's Karjat constituency.

NCP State President and MLA Jayant Patil raised the incident in the House, calling for an investigation. He expressed concern over the altercation occurring at the doorstep of the legislative assembly, emphasising the need for lawmakers to set a positive example.

Opposition Leader and Congress MLA Vijay Wadettiwar criticised the BJP-led Mahayuti government, highlighting previous incidents of violence involving Shiv Sena and BJP members. Dada Bhuse denied any physical altercation with Thorwe and declined to comment further.

CM, his deputies give Sharad Pawar lunch invite a miss

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

MAHARASHTRA Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and his two deputies, Devendra Fadnavis and Ajit Pawar, declined the lunch invitation extended by Sharad Pawar at his residence in Baramati on March 2, citing their busy schedules.

The Maharashtra government had scheduled the Namo Rojgar Melawa on March 2 in Baramati. As per protocol, the state government extended invitations to local Lok Sabha MP Supriya Sule and Rajya Sabha MP Sharad Pawar for this government program. However, both Pawar's daughter and father did not receive invitations, despite the program being scheduled in Baramati.

Sharad Pawar wrote a letter to CM Eknath Shinde and his two deputies, Devendra Fadnavis and Ajit Pawar, inviting them for lunch at his residence in Baramati. He mentioned that since the program was organized at the grounds of Vidhya Pratishan in Baramati, he would like to extend an invitation for tea, coffee, and lunch.

No new govt med colleges built in Gujarat since '95, but nod to 4 in '23

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

NO government medical colleges have been established in the state since 1995, the Gujarat government has admitted in the assembly.

However, permissions for four private medical colleges were granted last year, the government added. Also, of the 508 new nursing schools and colleges set up in two years, only one was the state government's initiative.

Responding to Congress MLA Amit Chavda's question in the Assembly on Thursday, the government said in a written reply that six government medical colleges are operating in the state, with the first established in Ahmedabad in 1871 and the last in Bhavnagar in 1995. Thus, the Gujarat government has not had a single government medical college constructed since 1995.

It further stated that while no government medical colleges were approved in 2022 or 2023, four private medical colleges were given a go-ahead in 2023. In 2022, five medical colleges run by the Gujarat Medical Education & Research Society (a registered trust of the Gujarat government) got government approval. In the past two years, no new government or grant-aided college for Ayurveda and Homeopathy degrees has been sanctioned in the state.

In response to another query posed by Congress MLA Ganiben Thakor, the government stated that 508 new nursing schools and colleges have opened in the state in the last two years, with only one established by the state government. The remaining 507 were all private colleges. In 2023-24, a total of 315 such institutes were established, of which only one, MSC Nursing Government College, was government-run.

On the one hand, no new government medical college has opened in Gujarat in nearly three decades; on the other, Health Minister Rushikesh Patel claims that the government intends to establish a medical college in each district.

"By 2027, the government aims to increase the number of medical seats at undergraduate and postgraduate levels to 12,200," said health minister Amit Chavda, Leader of Opposition in the Assembly.

"The fees of government colleges must be low compared to private colleges to enable the poor and middle-class students to become doctors, but the Gujarat government has not established any new government medical college in the last 29 years because this government cares only for rich and industrialists."

507 pvt nursing colleges

The govt said six government medical colleges are operating in the state, with the first one established in Ahmedabad in 1871 and the last in Bhavnagar in 1995. The govt stated 508 new nursing schools and colleges have opened in the state in last two years, with only one established by the state administration. The remaining 507 are all private colleges.

ALEXEI NAVALNY LAID TO REST; POLICE DETAIN 67

Thousands gathered at ceremonies held to pay tributes to the late opposition leader despite official warnings and heavy police presence

MOSCOW

RUSSIAN opposition leader Alexei Navalny was laid to rest in Moscow on Friday, surrounded by crowds of defiant mourners who chanted his name and blamed authorities for his death in prison.

Outside the cemetery where he was buried, some supporters shouted in grief, while others yelled out slogans against the Kremlin and its offensive in Ukraine.

Despite a heavy police presence and official warnings, thousands of mourners paid their respects to the 47-year-old anti-corruption campaigner whose death in an Arctic prison was announced on February 16.

Navalny's death has been widely condemned by Western leaders and his allies have accused President Vladimir Putin of responsibility and of trying to prevent a dignified public burial.

The Kremlin, which has dismissed the accusations as "hysterical", warned against "unauthorised" protests around the funeral. Navalny's body first lay in an open casket in a packed church in Maryino, southern Moscow, for a ceremony attended by his parents.

> The people who came here, they are not scared. Alexei wasn't either. People like him shouldn't be dying: honest and principled, willing to sacrifice themselves — Anna Stepanova, a supporter

The coffin was closed immediately after the service, meaning many mourners who had wanted to file past were not able to pay their last respects at the Mother of God Quench My Sorrows church. It was then transported to the Borisovo cemetery, near the banks of the Moskva River, where several large wreaths were arranged around the grave.

"We won't forget you!", "Forgive us!" some mourners shouted as the coffin arrived.

"No to war!" some chanted. Others yelled out: "Down with the power of murderers!" and "We will not forgive!". Many opponents blame Putin for the death of his top critic.

Meanwhile, rights monitoring group OVD-Info said the police arrested "at least 67 people in 16 towns", including six arrests in Moscow.

"Any unauthorised gatherings will be in violation of the law and those who participate in them will be held responsible," Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said, according to TASS news agency.

"What are they afraid of? Why so many cars?" one mourner, Anna Stepanova, asked. "The people who came here, they are not scared. Alexei wasn't either."

German Chancellor Olaf Scholz praised the thousands who turned out as "courageous". The French, German and US ambassadors were seen among mourners outside the church, as were some of Russia's last free independent politicians.

Music from "Terminator 2" — Navalny's favourite film — was played as the coffin was lowered, his spokeswoman Kira Yarmysh said.

The dissident's widow Yulia Navalnaya, who did not attend, paid tribute to her husband on social media. "I don't know how to live without you, but I will try my best to make you up there happy for me and proud of me. I don't know if I'll make it or not, but I'll try," she said.

Navalnaya has also blamed Putin for her husband's death.

Putin's spokesman Peskov has criticised the accusations made by her as "vulgar".

As the funeral went ahead, Peskov said he had "nothing to say" to the family of the deceased. AFP

'Extremist forces targeting democracy'

LONDON

FOLLOWING weeks of simmering tension in the UK over the Gaza conflict, Prime Minister Rishi Sunak Friday said that the "time has come" to battle extremist forces as he warned "democracy itself is a target".

In an unusual address from outside his Downing Street home, Sunak said that "in recent weeks and months, we have seen a shocking increase in extremist disruption and criminality."

Regular marches protesting Israel's military response to Hamas' October 7th attacks have seen dozens arrested for anti-Semitic chanting and banners, inviting support for a proscribed organisation and assaulting emergency workers.

Right wing conter-protesters were also arrested when they descended on London for Remembrance Day events in November. "Islamist extremists and far-right groups are spreading a poison. That poison is extremism," said Sunak.

Matters came to a head last week when the Speaker of the House of Commons said he bucked procedure during a debate due to concerns about the safety of MPs.

Sunak said that the protests, a regular occurence on Saturdays in the capital, "had descended into intimidation, threats and planned acts of violence." "Now our democracy itself is a target. Council meetings and local events have been stormed. "MPs do not feel safe in their home. Long-standing parliamentary conventions have been upended because of safety concerns," he added.

Sunak's speech came as left-wing firebrand George Galloway was elected to the UK parliament after tapping into anger over the Israel-Hamas war in a chaotic by-election marred by allegations of anti-Semitism. Sunak said it was "beyond alarming" that voters had elected a candidate "who dismisses the horror of what happened on October 7th, and who glorifies Hezbollah." AFP

Calls for probe, ceasefire follow Israeli gunfire near aid convoy

GAZA STRIP

WORLD leaders on Friday called for an investigation and a ceasefire nearly five months into the Gaza war, a day after dozens of desperate Palestinians rushing to an aid convoy were killed.

Israeli troops opened fire as Palestinian civilians scrambled for food aid during a chaotic incident on Thursday which the Hamas-run territory's health ministry said killed more than 100 people in Gaza City.

The Israeli military said a "stampede" occurred when thousands of Gazans surrounded the convoy of 38 aid trucks, leading to dozens of deaths and injuries, including some who were run over.

An Israeli source acknowledged troops had opened fire on the crowd, believing it "posed a threat".

Gaza's health ministry called it a "massacre" and said 112 people were killed and more than 750 others wounded.

The fatalities pushed the total number of Palestinian war dead in Gaza to 30,228, according to the ministry's latest toll.

Overnight Thursday-Friday 83 people were killed in strikes, the ministry said.

'Israel must fully investigate incident'

"The Israeli army must fully investigate how the mass panic and shooting could have happened," German Foreign Minister Annalena Baerbock wrote on social media platform X.

Her French counterpart Stephane Sejourne said "there will have to be an independent probe to determine what happened", and Italian Foreign Minister Antonio Tajani urged Israel "to protect the people in Gaza and rigorously ascertain facts and responsibilities".

European Commission chief Ursula von der Leyen said "every effort must be made to investigate what happened and ensure transparency".

The head of Libya's Presidential Council, Mohamed el-Manfi, appealed for "an urgent investigation" by the United Nations Security Council into the "unprecedented crime".

US President Joe Biden -- whose country provides billions of dollars in military aid to Israel – said Washington was checking "two competing versions" of the incident.

The Gaza City aid incident came with talks progressing towards a ceasefire, but would now complicate those efforts, Biden said.

The White House later said it had asked Israel to probe the "tremendously alarming" deaths. Deputy press secretary Olivia Dalton said the event "needs to be thoroughly investigated".

The foreign ministry of Gulf emirate Qatar, a mediator in the war, condemned "in the strongest terms the heinous massacre committed by the Israeli occupation" and called for "urgent international action" to halt the fighting in Gaza. AFP

- Famine in the Gaza Strip is almost inevitable unless the Israel-Hamas war changes, the United Nations said on Friday. The UN and other humanitarian actors have not yet declared a state of famine in Gaza, despite worsening conditions in the Palestinian territory. However, "once a famine is declared, it will be too late for too many people," said UN agency

Hamas, other Palestinian groups stress 'unity'

Palestinian factions including rivals Hamas and Fatah said on Friday they would pursue "unity of action" in confronting Israel after representatives met at Russia-hosted talks. The meeting in Moscow on Thursday brought together Hamas, Islamic Jihad, Fatah and other Palestinian groups for talks on the war in Gaza and an eventual post-war period.

46 dead and 22 injured after fire engulfs Bangladesh mall

DHAKA

A massive fire that ripped through a seven-storey shopping mall in Bangladesh's capital Dhaka that also housed several illegal eateries killed at least 46 people and injured 22 others, the government said on Friday, in one of the worst infernos to hit the country in recent years.

The fire broke out around 9:50pm on Thursday at a popular restaurant named 'Kacchi Bhai' on the first floor of the building, Green Cozy Cottage, and quickly spread to the upper floors that had more restaurants and a garment shop, according to fire service officials.

Health Minister Dr Samanta Lal Sen said around 2am that 33 bodies were brought to the Dhaka Medical College Hospital (DMCH) and 10 others to the Sheikh Hasina National Institute of Burn and Plastic Surgery. Another victim died at the Police Hospital. The condition of those injured is "critical", he told reporters at a briefing.

"One more person died during treatment in the intensive care unit of Dhaka Medical ICU this morning. A total of 46 people have died so far," Sen said on Friday.

Currently, 10 people are undergoing treatment at the Sheikh Hasina burn unit and two at DMCH, he said.

Meanwhile, Bangladesh firefighters said that glaring safety lapses were responsible for the blaze. Fire service operations director Rezaul Karim said the blaze had been made worse by numerous cooking gas cylinders stored haphazardly in stairwells and restaurant kitchens. Agencies

WTO talks run beyond deadline for fourth time

ABU DHABI: The world's trade ministers were engaged in deadlocked negotiations on Friday following overnight talks as a major WTO conference postponed its closing session for a fourth time with no deals in sight. An Indian-led push for permanent rules governing public stockholding of food reserves has drawn deep objections from other members at the World Trade Organisation's 13th ministerial meeting in Abu Dhabi, according to sources close to the talks. The standoff is imperilling a wider package of agreements on fisheries and an e-commerce moratorium only hours before the deadline, the sources added, speaking on condition of anonymity as they are not permitted to discuss ongoing negotiations. The WTO meeting in the capital of the United Arab Emirates was initially scheduled to wrap up on Thursday. But it was extended beyond its scheduled deadline four times amid rifts between the body's 164 members who must reach unanimous consensus to chalk up any deal as per WTO rules. AFP

Iran polls, 1st since 2022 protests, see low turnout

A voter fills out her ballot in the parliamentary and assembly of experts elections at a polling station in Tehran, Iran on Friday| AP

DUBAI

IRAN held its first parliamentary election on Friday since mass 2022 protests over mandatory hijab laws following the death of Mahsa Amini, apparently drawing a low turnout amid calls for a boycott.

It wasn't immediately clear if voter apathy or an active desire to send a message to Iran's theocracy depressed the number of voters coming to polling stations across the Islamic Republic. While state-controlled television broadcast images of lines of voters, others across the capital of Tehran saw largely empty polling stations.

Officials including Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei sought to link turnout directly to taking a stand against Iran's enemies. Others, including imprisoned Nobel Peace Prize laureate Narges Mohammadi, urged a boycott of a vote they derided as a 'sham.' Authorities broadly barred politicians calling for any change within the country's government, known broadly as reformists, from running in the election.

Of about 15,000 candidates vying for seats in the 290-member parliament, formally known as the Islamic Consultative Assembly, only 116 are considered to be relatively moderate or pro-reform candidates.

Meanwhile, Iran's economy continues to stagnate under Western sanctions over Tehran's rapidly advancing nuclear programme and the country's arming of militia proxies in the Middle East and Russia in its war on Ukraine.

Some of the voters acknowledged the challenges facing the Islamic Republic. "There are many problems; too many problems. We are sad, we are sorrowful and we voice our criticism as much as we can. God willing, those responsible will start thinking about us, and probably many of them do care," said one voter. AP

Pakistan's new prez to be elected on March 9

ISLAMABAD

THE polling to elect Pakistan's new President will be held on March 9, the election commission announced on Friday, a position that former president Asif Ali Zardari is almost certain to win again after nearly 11 years.

The new president would replace the incumbent Dr Arif Alvi, whose five-year term ended last year. However, he has continued since the new electoral college was not yet formed.

Alvi's successor could not be elected due to the absence of the National Assembly and provincial assemblies which were dissolved in August 2023.

Members of the federal parliament and provincial assemblies constitute the electoral college which elects the president of the country.

The Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP), in a notification, said the candidates for the country's top constitutional office can submit nomination papers by March 2 before noon. PTI

30 RAIN-MAKING JETS TO BATTLE DROUGHT

Thailand plans to deploy 30 aircraft nationwide for cloud-seeding operations to induce artificial rain to battle pollution and ease dry weather conditions in the main crop-growing areas. The South-east Asian country kicked off its so-called annual royal rain-making programme on Thursday. The operations in 2024 will rely on 24 aircraft from the Royal Rain-making Department and six jets from the Royal Thai Air Force, the government statement said. Rain-making is necessary to ease the impact of climate change on Thailand's agricultural sector and prevent hailstorm and forest fires.

NATION AIMS TO BECOME OECD MEMBER IN 2 YRS

Indonesia aims to complete the accession to become the member of Paris-based Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) within two to three years, a senior cabinet minister said. The country hopes to attract more investment and trade deals with the move. The comment came after OECD, which has 38 member countries, decided last week to open discussion for Indonesia's accession, following its application last July. Chief economic minister Airlangga Hartarto said the country is optimistic about being accepted as an OECD member because Indonesia had already complied with the organisation's standards.

FIIs TURN NET BUYER

Foreign institutional investors (FIIs) reduced their selling spree and remained net buyers on Friday as all the major global indices surged ahead after an overnight rally in the US after release of inflation data

Market hits record high on GDP numbers

Hopes of interest rate cut on benign US Inflation figure, positive auto sales numbers, also aid buying activity in domestic market

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

A day after India reported robust GDP numbers in third quarter of current financial year, domestic share market benchmarks - NSE Nifty50 and BSE Sensex - hit record high on Friday and closed the session with a massive gain of 1.6-1.7%. The latest US Inflation figure, which raised hopes of a rate cut in the coming months and positive auto sales numbers, also aided the buying activity.

The Sensex hit a record high of 73,819, while the Nifty50 touched 22,353 intraday. The 30-share pack ended the session at 73,745, up 1,245 points, the Nifty settled at 22,339, up 356 points. Market capitalisation of BSE-listed companies grew by 4.29 lakh crore to ₹392.25 lakh crore ($4.78 trillion).

"Strong resilience in India's Q3 GDP growth numbers propelled Sensex & Nifty to fresh record highs amid a rally in index heavyweights such as Reliance Industries, Tata Steel and banking stocks," said Prashanth Tapse, Senior VP (Research), Mehta Equities.

Data released by the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation on Thursday showed the December quarter GDP growth (at 8.4%) is the highest in six quarters. Investors cheered this growth even as the growth rate of eight core sectors slowed to a 15-month low of 3.6% in January 2024.

Foreign institutional investors (FIIs) reduced their selling spree and remained net buyers on Friday as all the major global indices surged ahead after an overnight rally in the US market. Mehta added that despite sharp rally, volatility cannot be ruled out due to ongoing concerns like delays in rate cuts, conflicts in the Middle East and expensive valuations of local stocks.

"The upsurge shows investors are willing to place bullish bets on Indian stocks amid continuity in economic policies and robust investment climate. From a technical perspective, if today's bullish trading action is any indication, then Nifty's next goal post is seen at its psychological 22,500 mark followed by targets placed at 23,000 mark, while the make-or-break support is at 21,861 mark," the analyst said.

Vinod Nair, head of research, Geojit Financial Services, said as the general election draws closer, stellar economic growth data raised confidence among investors for a pre-election rally. On the global front, in-line US personal consumption expenditure data and benign Eurozone inflation will influence global central banks to take a dovish view on interest rates, added Nair.

Google begins delisting 10 Indian apps from store

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

GOOGLE on Friday started removing 10 Indian apps from the Play Store including Bharat Matrimony, Naukri and TrulyMadly, for non-compliant with its billing policy.

Google Play charges a service fee when developers sell in-app digital goods. The tech giant said these 10 firms including "many well-established ones" had avoided paying fees "by securing interim protections from court."

"For years, no court or regulator has denied Google Play's right to charge for the value and services we provide. On 9 February, the Supreme Court refused to interfere with our right to do so. While some of the developers that were refused interim protection have started fairly participating in our business model and ecosystem, others choose to find ways to not do so," it said in a blog post.

Over two lakh Indian developers use Google Play. Only 3% of developers in India sell digital goods or services and therefore need to pay a service fee, the vast majority of whom pay 15% or less, Google said. In India, less than 60 developers on Google Play are subject to fees above 15%.

Hardly any business in India makes 30% PAT, but they (Google) want to earn 30% of our revenue so they can keep getting bigger — Snehil Khanor, co-founder and CEO, TrulyMadly

It's a dark day for Digital India Dream, TrulyMadly cofounder and CEO Snehil Khanor told this newspaper. "These BigTechs have become the landlords of the digital ecosystem and want us to pay them lagaan. Hardly any business in India even makes 30% PAT, but they want to earn 30% of our revenue so they can keep getting bigger at the expense of our demise," he said.

"It's Google who is not complying with the CCI order. Despite clear order from CCI to not restrict app developers using third party payment services and to not take any adverse measure against apps, Google is forcing us to remove other gateways and only use Google's billing systems and pay them 15-30% commission," he said.

Internet and Mobile Association of India (IAMAI) has advised Google not to delist any apps from Google Play. Four of its members have received notices from Google and the affected members of the association are of the view that a substantive hearing of the case is pending before the SC and Google should not take coercive action during pendency of the case.

FIU imposes ₹5.49 cr penalty on Paytm Bank under PMLA

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE Financial Intelligence Unit-India (FIU-IND) has imposed ₹5.49 crore penalty on Paytm Payments Bank for violating money laundering norms.

The finance ministry in a statement said, "FIU-IND initiated a review of the Paytm Payments Bank Ltd on receipt of specific information from law enforcement agencies in respect of a few entities and their network of businesses engaged in a number of illegal acts, including organising and facilitating online gambling."

Further, the money generated from these illegal operations, i.e. proceeds of crime were routed and channelled through bank accounts maintained by these entities with the Paytm Payments Bank Ltd, it added. Recently, Paytm founder and CEO Vijay Shekhar Sharma resigned as the non-executive chairman and board member of the payments bank.

Paytm Payments Bank spokesperson said, "The penalty pertains to issues within a business segment that was discontinued two years ago. Following that period, we have enhanced our monitoring systems and reporting mechanisms to the Financial Intelligence Unit (FIU)."

On Friday, Paytm and Paytm Payments Bank Limited (PPBL) have mutually agreed to discontinue various inter-company agreements with Paytm and its group entities. The shareholders of PPBL have agreed to simplify the Shareholders Agreement (SHA) to support PPBL's governance, independent of its shareholders.

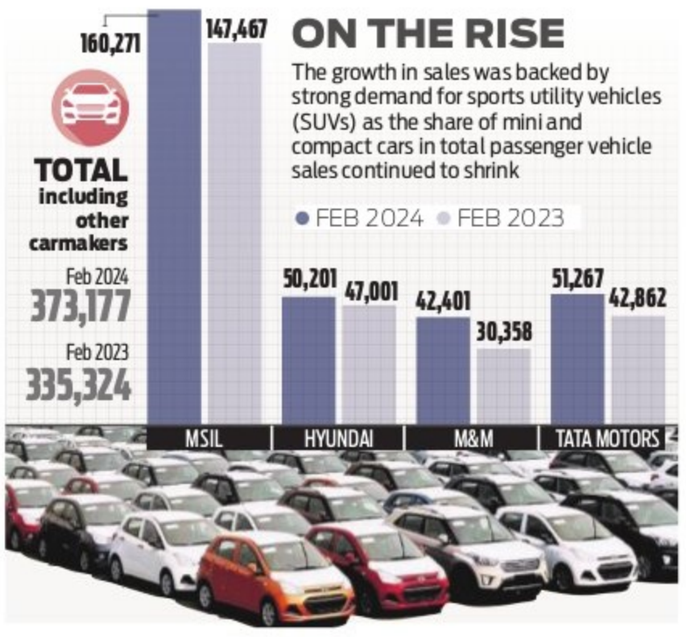
February PV sales jump 11% to 3.73 lakh units

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

IN another bumper month for domestic automobile industry, domestic passenger vehicle (PV) sales stood at more than 3.73 lakh units in February 2024, up 11.3% year-on-year. The growth in sales was again backed by strong demand for sports utility vehicles (SUVs) as the share of mini and compact cars in total PV sales continued to shrink.

During the first 11 months of FY24, PV sales surged to 38.59 lakh units, a growth of 8.6% YoY. Shashank Srivastava, senior executive officer, marketing and sales, Maruti Suzuki, said positive economic growth remains main driver for the industry. He added that a better supply situation and availability of models in the SUV segment are other key growth factors. He is hopeful that the domestic PV industry will close FY24 at 42.1 lakh units.

Srivastava said rural growth at 11.7% is higher than urban growth of 8% and the trend of rural India clocking a higher growth rate is likely to continue. Maruti reported a 9% growth in February 2024 domestic PV sales at 1,60,271 units as against 1,47,467 units in the month a year ago. Tata Motors took over the second position in February by dispatching 51,321 units, a growth of 19% YoY. Hyundai's domestic wholesales grew 7% YoY to 50,201 units.



Hyundai Motor India COO Tarun Garg said the company's SUV sales continue to do well in the domestic market and this segment accounted for 67% of the company's overall sales in February. Garg also highlighted growth in rural demand.

"In the history of Hyundai India, February 2024 was the first time when rural penetration for us crossed 20% mark... In addition to growing income, growth of infrastructure is improving rural accessibility, prompting people to buy new SUVs," stated Garg. He added that Hyundai remains cautiously optimistic for the year. "We understand there are concerns related to inflation and geopolitical situation," he said.

SUV major Mahindra & Mahindra's PV sales rose 40% to 42,401 units last month. Toyota Kirloskar Motor reported its best-ever monthly wholesales at 25,220 units in February.

In the two-wheeler space, Hero MotoCorp's wholesales grew 19% to 4,68,410 units. Honda 2-Wheelers reported an 86% increase in total sales at 4,58,711 units. TVS Motor Company said its wholesales rose 33% to 3,68,424 units in February 2024.

The parliament of China is expected to unveil moderate stimulus plans to stabilise the economy at an annual meeting beginning on Tuesday. Premier Li Qiang will lay out economic targets for this year and deliver his first work report to the National People's Congress (NPC). A property crisis, deepening deflation, a stock market rout, and mounting local government debt woes are putting enormous pressure on China's leaders to take momentous policy decisions that will put the economy on solid footing for the long-term. It is expected that the focus will be more on near-term support for the sputtering economy after a post-pandemic rebound quickly floundered. According to analysts, it is unlikely to roll out big reforms that would need the Chinese Communist Party's green light.

FEB INFLATION SOARS ON RICE, CHILLI PRICES

The inflation in Indonesia was at 2.75% in February, compared to 2.57% in January, bolstered by higher food prices, data from the statistics bureau showed on Friday. Bank Indonesia's inflation target is in the range of 1.5% to 3.5% this year. Prices of rice, chicken, chili and sugar were among the biggest contributors to February inflation. Retail price of rice rose 19.28% in February as against the same month last year. The core inflation, which strips out government-controlled prices and volatile food prices, was at 1.68% in February, unchanged from the month before and below market's prediction of 1.71%. The central bank said last week it wants volatile food inflation to be lower than 5% and said the rising food prices will be temporary due to seasonal factor, which has affected supply. Annual inflation has stayed within the central bank's target range since mid-2023, following BI's decision to hike rates a total of 250 bps between August 2022 and October 2023.

FEB FACTORY ACTIVITY SHRINKS MOST IN OVER 3 YRS

Factory activity in Japan declined at the fastest pace in over three-and-a-half years in February, a private-sector survey showed on Friday. A weakening demand worsened economic outlook. It was the ninth straight month of contraction and the fastest pace of fall since August 2020. The final au Jibun Bank Japan manufacturing purchasing managers' index (PMI) fell to 47.2 in February from 48.0 in January. The index remained below the 50.0 threshold that separates growth from contraction in activity since June. Both production and new orders, the two main sub indexes of the PMI, fell at the fastest pace in a year. Respondents cited factors like weak sales demand at home and overseas and production delays due to machinery shutdowns.

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE gross goods and services tax (GST) revenue for the month of February stood at ₹1.68 lakh crore, a rise of 12.5% compared to the same period in 2023, driven by a 13.9% rise in domestic transactions and an 8.5% increase in imports, according to the government data.

AVG MOP-UP UP AT 1.67L CR

The average monthly gross collection in FY24 stood at ₹1.67 lakh crore, surpassing last year's ₹1.5 lakh crore. The Centre settled ₹41,856 crore to CGST and ₹35,953 crore to SGST

The central government settled ₹41,856 crore to central goods and services tax (CGST) and ₹35,953 crore to SGST from the IGST collected. This translates to a total revenue of ₹73,641 crore for CGST and ₹75,569 crore for SGST after regular settlement, as per the release.

"Robust GST collections indicate a healthy state of the economy. This should result in improving both Centre as well as state finances. Increased collection efforts on part of the authorities coupled with continued issuance and adjudication of notices has also been a significant contributor. Buoyancy in tax collections is expected to continue in March being the last month of the financial year due to increased recovery efforts by the authorities," said Manish Mishra, Partner, JSA Advocates and Solicitors.

Meanwhile, Pratik Jain, Partner with Price Waterhouse & Co LLP, said the government might achieve next year's collection target easily, given the current trend of monthly collections.

GDP surged over 8% in Dec quarter on account of fall in subsidies: FinMin official

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

INDIA'S economic growth surged significantly to 8.4% in the October-December quarter, mainly on account of a massive drop in subsidies payout due to fall in prices, a top Finance Ministry official said.

"The visible gap between GDP and GVA (gross value added) growth rates, with GVA expanding by 6.5% and GDP growing by 8.4% can be attributed to fall in subsidies due to lower prices," the official stated. GVA is a measure of the value of goods and services produced in an economy, industry, or sector. It provides a more accurate picture of an economy's performance by excluding indirect taxes and subsidies, focusing solely on the value generated through production processes. GVA is often used by experts to assess the contribution of individual sectors or industries to the overall economy.

According to the government data, fertiliser subsidies in the October-December quarter fell nearly 70% to ₹30,700 lakh crore as compared with the same period of last year.

In addition, the government official also informed that the Centre would stick to the fiscal deficit target of 5.8% set for the current fiscal year 2023-24, despite the dynamic growth figures in the final quarter of 2023. "We hope to stick to the 5.8 per cent fiscal deficit target in the current financial year. I don't think that GDP numbers released on Thursday will lead to any change in the deficit target," the official cited above said.

Murugappa Group firm CG Power owns 92% stake in semiconductor joint venture

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

CG Power and Industrial Solutions Limited, a subsidiary of Tube Investments of India Limited and part of the Murugappa Group, will own 92.3% stakes in the upcoming semiconductor joint venture.

The company's plans to set up a semiconductor unit in Sanand, Gujarat, was approved on Thursday under the Development of Semiconductors and Display Manufacturing Ecosystems in India scheme. The JV will invest ₹7,600 crore over a five-year period, which will be financed through a mix of equity and bank borrowings, along with government subsidy.

Renesas and Stars Microelectronics each will hold equity capital of nearly 6.8% and 0.9%, respectively, as per exchange filings by CG power. Both will play a key role as technical partners for the project.

It has recently signed an agreement with Renesas Electronics Corporation, Thailand-based Stars Microelectronics to establish a Joint Venture (JV) to build and operate an outsourced Semiconductor Assembly and Test (OSAT) facility in India. Japanese chipmaker Renesas brings advanced manufacturing technology and capabilities and Star Microelectronics, an OSAT provider, will provide technical know-how.

Ankita to lead Indian challenge in China

India's top singles player Ankita Raina will spearhead the country's challenge in the Billie Jean King Cup (Asia/Oceania Group I) to be held in China next month. The other team members for the April 8-13 event in Changsha are Sahaja Yamalapalli, Rutuja Bhosale, Shrivalli Bhamidipaty and Prarthana Thombare. Former player Shalini Thakur Chawla will be the captain.

With the backing of the team management, wrist-spinner, after displacing Axar in the set-up, has produced the goods to help the hosts

Kuldeep, the third horseman in India's spinning arsenal

GOMESH S @ New Delhi

WHEN Kuldeep Yadav represented his state team, Uttar Pradesh, for the Ranji Trophy match against Kerala in the first week of January, it was his first long-format match of any kind since the end of 2022 (a Test in Bangladesh). However, considering the England-shaped challenge, he knew he couldn't go unprepared.

In the Group B match at Alappuzha, the left-arm wrist spinner bowled 26 overs and returned with four wickets. His victims — Rohan Kunnumal, Sachin Baby, P Rohan Prem and Vishnu Vinod — all were top-order batters. With confidence and some competitive red-ball practice behind him, he linked up with the Indian squad ahead of the first Test in Hyderabad. But Kuldeep had to wait for his chance.

With Ravindra Jadeja out of the second Test at Visakhapatnam, the 29-year-old came into the picture.

While Jasprit Bumrah played Batman in the first innings, Kuldeep was his Robin picking up three crucial wickets to accompany the pacer's six. In the second, he gave India the big breakthrough by trapping Zak Crawley — who was threatening to take the game away from India — to open the floodgates.

Ahead of the Rajkot Test, he had spoken about how much he was enjoying the contest against the tourists. Jadeja dominated the proceedings in his hometown. In Ranchi, captain Rohit Sharma understandably trusted the senior spinner, along with R Ashwin to do the heavy lifting on Day One. In fact, Kuldeep was brought on only in the 42nd over.

It is a tricky situation where you have three world class spinners, one of them will have to wait to get the ball hand. Kuldeep bowled only 12 overs with no wickets, but was the most economical among the bowlers.

Come Day Three, Rohit did not take long to turn to Kuldeep. Now, having batted long enough on the surface — he stitched a crucial partnership with Dhruv Jurel to help India reduce the deficit — Kuldeep knew how the surface was playing.

With little bounce and pace on offer, the wrist spinner realised the need to bowl quicker through the air. He even changed his run up a little to extract assistance from the surface. And the result was there to see — the wickets of Crawley, Ben Stokes, Tom Hartley and Ollie Robinson. The pace of those wicket-taking deliveries read 85.9 KPH, 81.3, 83.3 and 80.7, respectively.

"Outstanding" is what UP head coach and former India left-arm spinner Sunil Joshi described Kuldeep's performance. "It is important that you understand the nature of the surface and based on that, you have to prepare. Kuldeep is very smart. I mean not only in this series, if you look at what Kuldeep 2.0, (what he) has done overall since his comeback, I think he has varied the pace whenever needed, bowled slow or quicker through the air, put revs on the ball as per the situation. That is why he is so effective," the former national selector told this newspaper.

Joshi is not one bit surprised about Kuldeep's stellar show. In fact, over a month ago, during the Ranji match, Kuldeep picked the brains of Joshi on how to bowl to English batters, most of whom take out the broom to counter spin.

"When they start reverse sweeping automatically, they want the bowler to change the line and length to the reverse sweep or genuine sweep. Those discussions, come what may, whatever the batter tries (he is doing so) because he is not comfortable to play you consistently. You have to be prepared and stick to your plans and strengths. And that is what he is doing and he is consistently picking up wickets. And he is getting top-order wickets, it shows that why he is so effective and consistent in lengths," Joshi explained.

While it might seem like Kuldeep has stepped up big time only in Ranchi from the scoreboards, he has taken 12 wickets in three games as the third spinner. Among the 12, eight feature in the top seven. That in itself sumps up the impact he has had with the ball. On various occasions he has made Jonny Bairstow, Stokes, Crawley and Ben Foakes look like they had no clue what happened on the deliveries they got out to. Whether it was the Bairstow dismissal in Rajkot or Stokes in the second innings in Ranchi, Kuldeep was all over the England batters, taking them by surprise.

At this point, it is important to understand what has changed apart from the upskilling and adapting since his comeback. When Rohit became captain, one of the first things he did was to throw his weight behind Kuldeep and back him publicly to make a comeback. Since then, he has been a regular in the white-ball sides, at least in ODIs. In Tests, he has been the fourth spinner in the pecking order behind Ashwin, Jadeja and Axar Patel (you might argue he's now the third choice after displacing Axar in the third Test at Rajkot).

Having the backing of the captain has made a huge difference to Kuldeep's confidence in this latest version and it shows on the field. How long before Kuldeep becomes a regular feature in the first XI? Joshi says it will depend on the gameplan of captain and coach. "Every captain and coach has a different gameplan. According to me, Kuldeep should be your preferred choice in Tests. He brings a different variety, expertise and dimension to the bowling attack. He should be an integral part of the bowling unit," Joshi said.

While India's next Test series is months away, there is still one match left in the series. With the weather tilting towards the colder side, it will be interesting to see what kind of combination the home side fields, especially now that Bumrah has returned to the squad. Irrespective of the decision they make, Kuldeep will know he played an important role in helping the hosts preserve their long unbeaten record.

BIGGIES RETURN

Shreyas Iyer, Washington Sundar, Sai Sudharsan — three players who were either playing for the national team or knocking on the selection door in recent times — are all back. Both teams have coped well in their absence but will not mind bringing them back into the fold.

TN'S SPINNERS

TN have compensated for a lack of presence in the pace-bowling department thanks to a range of spinners who have picked up wickets. R Sai Kishore leads with 47, with teammate, S Ajith Ram in joint-second with 42.

TWO IN-FORM TEAMS

Both sides lost only once during the league stage and had no hiccups during the quarterfinal stage. After starting the season slowly, Sai Kishore & Co have zeroed in on the combination while Mumbai have mixed and matched while retaining their spirit. What's more as many as seven Indian internationals could feature.

MP KEEP GETTING THE JOB DONE

Even when they were in all sorts of trouble against Andhra, they came through to the semifinals. Defending 170 on a tricky surface, they bowled their opponents out for 165. It's meant that they have remained unbeaten this season, winning five and drawing thrice. It's been the hallmark of their campaign as even when they have conceded the first innings lead, they have come storming back to win outright.

VIDARBHA ON A ROLL

They are currently on a three-match winning streak and it has seen them beat Karnataka in the last eight clash. It has seen them dismiss their opponents all six times with the likes of Yash Thakur amongst the wickets. It has helped them that new import Karun Nair has emerged as a crucial cog in the middle-order (two 100s and a 50 in the last month) to provide support.

Upbeat Tamil Nadu geared up for Mumbai challenge

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

TAMIL NADU skipper R Sai Kishore is full of optimism at the moment. Ahead of his team's Ranji Trophy semifinal meeting against Mumbai, he is confident as he has been over the last few weeks.

After an indifferent start, Tamil Nadu have had an impressive run this season, dispatching teams in a professional manner and displaying the ability to pick up 20 wickets on a regular basis.

"We have prepared well for the Ranji semifinals. We are confident of a good show and we will go all out against Mumbai. Our boys are in a good frame of mind and the return of Washy (Washington Sundar) and B Sai Sudharsan augurs well for the team," said Sai Kishore, ahead of TN's clash against the 41-times champions in Mumbai. The match is set to start on Saturday.

It's that positive mindset that has propelled Sai Kishore and his troops.

"I am not afraid of losing. I always think positively and put my best foot forward. I know when we play well as a unit, rewards will certainly come," he noted. Mumbai in their own backyard is always a tough proposition. And with the return of premier batter Shreyas Iyer, their team's chances have brightened.

"I know that we have a very good team that can beat anyone on a given day when we play to our strengths. Lets not forget that we have taken 20 wickets regularly this season and our batters have been in good form," assessed Sai Kishore.

In a knock-out match, the toss is likely to play a key role. Teams prefer to bat first in order to post a big total and try to bat out the opposition. A first-innings lead could have a massive bearing on the match.

"You see, I can control the controllables. Toss at times, you can win or lose. I believe that either way you must be prepared to take the challenge. When you have a good side and the players are raring to go, toss does not matter," he opined.

One of the major problems for Tamil Nadu this season has been the lack of a settled opening pair.

After batting lower down the order initially, N Jagadeesan moved to the top but he hasn't been able to find a regular opening partner.

"You see we tried a couple of youngsters and had mixed results. It (not having a settled opening pair) was a concern, since we did not have Sai Sudarshan. Now that Sai Sudharsan is back and Washy, too, in the squad, we can expect another 100 runs to our total. Sai Sudharsan and Jagadeesan will open, followed by Pradosh (Ranjan Paul), then B Indrajith. Then we have Washy or Vijay Shankar, so our batting order is settled. Mohamed Ali will give way for Washington," the skipper said.

Mumbai's batting depth is also good with the likes of Shardul Thakur, who can bat pretty well. Sai Kishore felt his side can match up with them but they need to execute their plans. "We, too, have good batting depth in our ranks. If you really want to compare, the quality of the all-rounders we have is much better than Mumbai. Having said that, it all boils down to how the boys adapt and execute the plans."

The wickets for the semifinals are generally built to last five days to have a good contest between the bat and ball. Sai Kishore is expecting his spinners to play a major role as the match progresses. "The wicket looks good. It will hold on well initially and looks like it will aid spin as the match progresses. So our spinners will come to the fore. We have some quality spinners in Washy and Ajith Ram and Pradosh to chip in. I am always there when the team wants. So, it will be a fight to the finish and I am confident we will emerge successful."

The next five days promises to be a tasty battle between the two sides.

Mohun Bagan put up football clinic to go 2nd

AGENCIES @ Kolkata

MOHUN Bagan Super Giant breezed past Jamshedpur FC by 3-0 at the Salt Lake Stadium in the Indian Super League (ISL) on Friday to jump to the second spot in the standings.

The Mariners have a gifted frontline at their disposal, and this match was a testament to that with the trio of Dimitrios Petratos, Jason Cummings, and Armando Sadiku netting once each to cap off a convincing outing.

Jamshedpur had been on an enviable surge since Khalid Jamil took over the reins, staying unbeaten in the second half of the current campaign. Their opponents had been in a similar run, not tasting defeat in the league since Antonio Lopez Habas replaced Juan Ferrando.

This was thus a clash of two impressively in-form units, but the superior striking quality in the ranks of the home team shone through to secure three points for the Kolkata-based club. Supporting them was winger Manvir Singh, who entered this game as the player with most assists (3) in this fixture. Over the course of 90 minutes, Manvir added two more to that tally, setting up the strikes of Petratos and Cummings.

In the seventh minute, Manvir made another one of his dazzling runs on the right flank, breaching past the Jamshedpur FC backline and squaring up a pass for an onrushing Petratos. The striker struck the sweet spot inside the net with his first touch, breaking the deadlock early on.

As the game entered its final half hour, the home team produced some exemplary finishing to shoot up their lead. In the 68th minute, Manvir shifted into the middle, carving open a half space in the final third with a precise pass that Cummings shot straight past TP Rehenesh. Twelve minutes later, Sadiku jumped into the proceedings, converting a fairly straightforward tap in to triple the lead, infusing momentum for the Mariners to finish the game on a high.

WOMEN'S PREMIER LEAGUE

'Playing in front of RCB fans a great experience'

KALYANI MANGALE @ Chennai

RICHA GHOSH has been a constant behind the wickets and with the bat for the Royal Challengers Bangalore (RCB) over the two seasons of the Women's Premier League. She spoke about the RCB's team environment, learning from Sophie Devine and more. Excerpts...

On team environment

We have a great bond in the team so, it is good to be back again playing for RCB. In the last season, I was more nervous because it was the first time all of us were playing in the WPL. This time around, I am more aware of how the season will unfold and a little more relaxed. I know what to expect. I have gained a lot of experience from the two seasons with RCB. The support staff and everyone at the franchise have helped me a lot. We have a relaxed team environment and that is what a player needs to thrive.

On playing in front of the Bengaluru crowd

I was over the moon when we found out that we would be playing a few matches in Bengaluru. And as everyone knows the RCB fans are supportive, but more importantly, very loyal. So, playing in front of them was even better. When you are aware that the crowd is fully behind you, you can gain a lot of confidence from that. So automatically, it inspires you to perform better. Sometimes, it is even hard to listen to the captain's instructions with that much noise, but we love playing in front of them.

On Smriti Mandhana

Everyone is different when it comes to captaincy and they have different ways of thinking. The thing I love the most about Smriti Di is that she is a calm captain. This season especially, she has been helpful, on and off the field. Her inputs regarding the batting have also been helpful for me.

On her learnings from Sophie Devine

To be honest, Sophie Devine is the master of big-hitting. The way she has played for her country and even for RCB in the last season, you can learn a lot by just watching her. She hits the ball hard and cleanly. I have spoken with her about how she manages it and as a young player, I want to learn as much as I can from her.

KEDARPURI BECKONS

TRAVELLERS FROM FAR AND WIDE

Shri Kedarnath Dham, situated in the snow-capped peaks of the Himalayan mountain in the Rudraprayag district of Uttarakhand, holds a significant place in Hinduism as one of the 12 Jyotirlingas. It is revered as a sacred pilgrimage site and offers a divine experience to all who visit. The Mandakini river originates from this sacred spot. The Chardham Yatra is deemed incomplete without paying homage at Kedarnath.

The Kedarnath Shrine was badly affected by the deadly floods and landslides in June, 2013 in Uttarakhand. Soon after assuming his office in 2014, Prime Minister Narendra Modi initiated the restoration of the Kedarnath Shrine. PM Modi is committed to ensuring that the beauty and grandeur of the Kedarnath gets enhanced. The reconstruction efforts are being carried out with future needs in mind while maintaining the religious and spiritual essence of the site. PM Modi himself has started monitoring the redevelopment work at the site.

Since 2021, Kedarpuri is experiencing a revival, drawing worshippers from near and far. PM Modi has emphasized the importance of a "Surakshit Uttarakhand - Surakshit Yatra (Safe Uttarakhand - Safe Yatra)" after his spiritual retreat in the meditation cave at Kedarnath. With its blend of spirituality and natural beauty, Kedarnath is a must-visit destination for those who want to experience a spiritual bliss.

Uttarakhand has received the prestigious title of the 'Most Friendly State for Films', which has been acknowledged by Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami. He expressed his pride in this accomplishment and extended his congratulations to the residents of the state. At the ceremony, Banshidhar Tiwari, the Director General Information and CEO of Uttarakhand Film Development Council, accepted the award on behalf of Uttarakhand. Uttarakhand's potential as a film shooting destination will be enhanced even more in the coming years. The State Government, under the leadership of CM Pushkar Singh Dhami, has been tirelessly working towards establishing Uttarakhand as the perfect destination for film shoots. The Single Window Clearance System ensures swift approval of film shooting proposals, while no fees is charged for shooting permits. Additionally, film units are offered security throughout their shooting period. Over the years, the state has been the backdrop for over 150 films, shows, and documentaries, such as 'The Kashmir Files', 'Batti Gul Meter Chalu', 'Kabir Singh', 'Kedarnath', 'Student of the Year', and even featured on Discovery Channel. Additionally, Prime Minister Narendra Modi made an appearance alongside Bear Grylls in an episode of adventure reality show "Man vs Wild".

For shooting purposes, all kinds of approvals can now be obtained within 3-4 days, thanks to the single window clearance system.

Uttarakhand Film Policy

- Single window clearance for shooting.
- At present, exemption in shooting fees has been given on films being made in Uttarakhand.
- If the film is processed within the state, a subsidy of Rs 25 lakh is given to the films in the regional languages of the state.
- Hindi film makers are eligible for a subsidy of Rs 4.5 crore if they shoot 75% of their film in Uttarakhand. The State Govt has also made a decision to provide a 50% discount on guest houses owned by GMVN and KMVN (Tourism Department) to these film makers during their shooting period.

Uttarakhand Tourism has received approval from DGCA to operate the Gyrocopter. This is India's first Himalayan Air Safari with safety and expertise, which will also work to connect the remote areas of Uttarakhand

Uttarakhand is all set to revolutionize tourism by introducing the first-ever Himalayan air safari in the nation. This ground-breaking initiative promises an unparalleled adventure experience combined with awe-inspiring scenery for tourists.

The Uttarakhand Tourism Development Board, in collaboration with Raash Aero-sports and Adventures Private Limited, will utilize gyrocopters to explore the region's stunning landscapes. Gyrocopters, being small and nimble aircraft, have opened up a new chapter in the state's tourism industry, as demonstrated by the successful trial flight from Bairagi Camp, Haridwar.

As a component of the Breakfast Tourism initiative in the state, this distinctive service offered under the Himalayan Air Safari Plan is set to captivate tourists. They will soar through the skies, relishing the breathtaking aerial vistas of the majestic Himalayan Range and the meandering rivers below.

After completing a test flight, Col Ashwini Pundir, Additional CEO of Uttarakhand Tourism Development Board, said that the Himalayan Air Safari will soon commence, allowing tourists to effortlessly travel between various scenic spots in the state via gyrocopters. This extraordinary scheme will enable visitors to immerse themselves in the natural splendour of the Himalayan peaks and rivers, explore their chosen destinations, and return to their starting point after savoring the destination's charm.

The Uttarakhand Tourism is dedicated to offering secure and exceptional ways to showcase the magnificence of this destination to visitors. The latest gyrocopters have been acquired from Germany for this purpose. Skilled pilots from Germany will oversee the flights initially. Efforts are underway to establish specialized airstrips at different tourist locations through collaboration between the Civil Aviation Department and district officials.

This will serve as a link connecting tourists to the hidden and distant locations in Uttarakhand. It will offer a one-of-a-kind chance to discover the unexplored areas of the state by embarking on an exhilarating gyrocopter ride.

Transforming Tourism Landscape in Uttarakhand

The Beatles Ashram, also called Chaurasi Kutiya, was established in Rishikesh by Maharishi Mahesh Yogi to teach yoga and meditation

The Beatles Ashram, also known as Chaurasi Kutiya (84 Kutiya), served as the epicenter for Maharishi Mahesh Yogi's global meditation movement. Currently, the Government of Uttarakhand is spearheading a special initiative in collaboration with the Tourism Department and Forest Department to transform this place into a thriving tourist destination.

Maharishi Mahesh Yogi's Transcendental Meditation Technique is renowned globally. The ashram imparts in-depth understanding and thorough training on this method through transcendental meditation instructors and facilities. Progressing from Meditation to Awareness represents a phase in Yoga that cultivates a heightened state of alertness, enabling the yoga practitioner to levitate while seated.

Uttarakhand Tourism Development Board (UTDB) has taken a major step by creating a vision document, master plan, and architectural and engineering design for the ashram with the help of top design consultancy firms. The goal is to transform this location into a modern heritage site offering wellness hospitality, art, and culture. The objective is to revive the former splendor of this place in order to draw in visitors from both near and far.

The amenities at this location will not just educate visitors about the past of the original site, but also offer a rejuvenating experience to those who come here, which is renowned worldwide in Rishikesh. The redevelopment of this center will give it a fresh look, deserving of praise. Consequently, in the future, this place will captivate the interest of Maharishi's followers, international musicians' fans, and researchers from across the globe. Additionally, this center will transform into a vibrant hub of cultural and artistic events, showcasing dance, music, and various art forms from around the world.

Amidst preparations for the French Open, which starts on Tuesday, badminton ace PV Sindhu – who relocated to Bengaluru recently – on being mentored by renowned champ Prakash Padukone, and handling the high hopes pinned on her

'I DON'T FEEL THAT DAUNTING PRESSURE'

SHE has a way of blending into the crowd. And according to ace badminton player PV Sindhu, keeping it low-key is a deliberate attempt. "But there are times, I frequent malls with a mask and cap on, but still get recognised. It's probably because of my height," says the 28-year-old.

Sindhu moved to Bengaluru in November 2023 from Hyderabad and is currently being mentored by badminton legend Prakash Padukone. Of course, the shuttler misses home but does not mind the change since she has her eyes fixed on her goal. "In October, I thought I would come here and see how it works out. To be honest, when you stay away from home, you will always feel like you are missing out. Coming here, helped me up my game. I initially thought I would come on and off but after I saw myself change for the better, I decided to train here. Now, I have a whole new team," says Sindhu.

The other factor that helped her deal with the change was training under the guidance of Padukone. "He is very calm, he always says that there's a process. If you make any mistake, you need to practice until you become perfect. I am so comfortable with sir's style of mentoring. When he says something, it comes from a place of experience and means a lot. He always says you have to be your 100 per cent to play any game," says Sindhu, while chatting at the Prakash Padukone Badminton Academy.

Recently, Sindhu made a comeback after a long injury layoff, with a gold-medal triumph at the Badminton Asia Team Championships. Now, the double Olympic medallist is eyeing the Paris 2024 Olympics but before that, she has set her sights on the French Open and the All England Open, starting from March 5 and 12, respectively. "Preparation is going well. We have French Open and then back-to-back tournaments. After the team event, these will be the first individual tournaments," says Sindhu.

With the whole nation pinning high hopes on her, the pressure is inevitable – but having been playing for many years, the experience has also helped her deal with the pressure. "Pressure is always there. But right now, I don't feel that daunting pressure – whether there is pressure or not, I just have to play. I am just living in the moment and not thinking what needs to be done," says a confident Sindhu.

The 15th Bengaluru International Film Festival (BIFFes) kicked off in grand style, drawing film enthusiasts from across the city

EXPRESS FEATURES

THE 15th edition of the Bengaluru International Film Festival (BIFFes) opened with a vibrant atmosphere at Orion Mall in Rajaji Nagar, attracting cinephiles of all ages from across the city. The first day was a cinematic feast, featuring an eclectic mix of films. N Vidyashankar, the festival's artistic director, remarked, "The response has been encouraging. We've seen a good mix of all age groups participating in the festival. Cinema is one of the few mediums that attract not only the younger generation, curious about new films but also older generations who watch for nostalgic reasons. We've had many youngsters, senior citizens, and members of the film fraternity taking part."

Veteran Kannada actors like Dattanna and Jayamala, along with filmmakers including Nagathihalli Chandrashekhar, took part in the festival's morning showcases. Actor and filmmaker B Suresha, known for directing Puttakkana Highway, commented, "In the morning, I watched a beautiful film titled Temporaries. It's about migrant workers and the exploitation they face. Here in India, we have had similar experiences with thousands of workers during the pandemic. Even now, thousands from India are going to Israel. The festival this time has an array of films addressing some of the most pressing issues facing people worldwide. Watching these films might inspire viewers to take action."

Meanwhile, Sanjana, a student, shared, "My taste in cinema is quite eclectic. I'm keeping my options open, but I'm particularly interested in French or Finnish films as I'm learning French and want to gain insight into their cinema." In a similar vein, Prem, a photography faculty member at JD Institute of Fashion Technology, said, "I'm a movie buff and have worked as an assistant cinematographer. This is my world; I love the ambiance. In the morning, I watched Lost Souls, which is quite dramatic. For the afternoon showcase, I chose Raghavendra Stores, a comedy, as a sort of palate cleanser!"

Scheduled over seven days till March 7, BIFFes is set to showcase over 180 films from 60 countries. Alongside the main venue at Orion Mall, film showcases are also being held at Dr Rajkumar Bhavana in Chamrajpet and Suchitra, Banashankari.

This Hindi play highlights the resilience and fortitude of transgenders despite the numerous struggles and hurdles the community faces

MONIKA MONALISA

TRANSCENDING BARRIERS

THEATRE artiste Komal Gusain is naturally drawn to stories about social issues. And when she came across a story about the transgender community, written by Delhi-based playwright Amul Sagar, she knew she had to bring it to Bengaluru. Gusain now can't wait for the play Mera Wajood to come to life, which is going to be staged at Jagriti Theatre, today.

Mera Wajood is a Hindi play that delves into the intricacies of the 'kinnar' society, shedding light on their struggles, miseries, and lifestyle. The play carries a message of humanity, emphasising the universal right to equal livelihood irrespective of form, caste, creed, status, religion, or background. "This topic is very close to my heart. As an artiste, I believe we shape tomorrow. That's why I always choose topics that have a connection with the audience. Something that makes them think," says Gusain, who originally hails from Dehradun.

The story highlights the harsh realities this community grapples with to survive in a challenging world for the necessities. "Out of the larger transgender community, I wanted to focus on the kinnar community who struggle for basic needs. I have encountered people from the community and most of the research comes from personal quarters, by observing them," says Gusain.

She recalls, "Initially, I was hesitant to speak to them but then I slowly warmed up and understood their struggles. The show not only explores the lifestyle of a kinnar but also reflects the stark truths of contemporary society.

It challenges the notion of existence and identity, illustrating that true fulfillment often comes at a high cost, one that requires individuals to make profound sacrifices in the pursuit of happiness. Since it is a very sensitive topic, the casting was important. All the actors have been auditioned and have gone through workshops to get their characters right," says Gusain.

(Mera Wajood* is set to be staged today at 7.30pm at Jagriti Theatre, Whitefield)

IT hasn't been a particularly good week for me, and this situation makes me seek out my 'daal & rice' comfort zone. Maybe it's a natural progression, but I find myself going back to the basics more often than not. I catch myself using phrases like, 'life is very transitory,' 'c'est la vie' and lately, 'watch it! I have seriously low oestrogen levels'! I have been battling with some bad news concerning my bff's munchkin and the news has knocked the wind out of my sails. It's funny how frail we are as human beings. Our pituitary glands rule the roost. Even though we are a family of scientists, doctors and the like, the moment something goes inexplicably wrong, science goes out of the window and we go back to believing in 'bad-juju', 'kanh' and other occult type thingamajigs to ease our fears!

I was determined not to be a damp squib and let my fears get the better of me. So with my best 'Mary Poppins' demeanour, I opened my umbrella and decided to 'feed-the-birds'! I am at my best when I hang out with my 'true-blue' friends, so I made a plans with my 'precious-handful' to have brunch at the ITC Gardenia. They have recently added their fabulous Japanese restaurant's dishes to their Sunday brunch and we were excited to try it out. Sitting on the sun-dappled porch spending quality time, sipping on (make you mellow) cocktails, listening to music and partaking on a fabulous fare has all the right ingredients to put the smile back on ones face.

Not to let this warm mushy feeling pass, I invited a buddy who I had been making plans with for eons, to have a typical Indian high-tea with me. It couldn't have been better as we gossiped, laughed and reminisced over home-made kebabs, dosas with mutton-curry, bondas (look-up Google) onion pakoras and an array of chutneys. Whew! 'If food be the cure of all angst…eat on'! (With apologies to my fave bard)

I was really enjoying these small 'onesies and twosies' trysts with my friends but there comes a time where one cannot remain (or wish to) remain hidden for long. After all I am a social-being (my friends say too social), but I prefer to call myself convivial and gregarious.

So with a song in my heart and a skip in my step I attended the legendary 'Swad' festival at the invitation of Dr Kerwin Nigli, head of the Department of Hotel-Management, Christ University. The service by the students was impeccable, but what set a record were the over 40 kinds of purely non-vegetarian dishes served that day! Surely I am blessed…nary did a vegetarian spoon touch my plate!

Breaking food-barriers with aplomb…

AJAYA PRITHVI SHINES IN THIS TALE ABOUT MIDDLE-CLASS DUBAI DREAMS

PURUSHOTHAMANA PRASANGA
Director: Devadas Kapikad
Cast: Ajaya Prithvi Rashtrakuta, Rishika Nayak, and Devendra Kapikad

A SHARADHAA

THE allure of Dubai, often depicted as a middle-class aspiration, symbolises rapid prosperity and the desire to emulate affluent lifestyles. Many harbour ambitious visions of soaring to Dubai's glamorous skyline, yearning to break free from financial constraints. Yet, the path to this dream is anything but simple; it is a complex narrative marked by relentless determination and unforeseen obstacles. It is within this context that the film Purushothamana Prasanga episode unfolds, offering a portrayal of the aspirations and struggles inherent in the pursuit of the Dubai dream. But is it worth the struggle?

Set in the vibrant backdrop of Mangaluru's coastal charm, the film captures the timeless quest for a better life abroad, striking a chord with middle-class individuals. At its center stands Purushothamma, affectionately known as Purusha (Ajaya Prithvi Rashatrakuta), whose aspirations and family duties reflect the hopes of many. Director Devadas Kapikad guides us through the diverse characters within Purusha's family and neighbourhood circles, unveiling the intricacies of their interconnected lives.

The movie kicks off with Purusha's vivid imagination of boarding a bus bound for Dubai, clad in Arabian attire, only to be rudely interrupted by his mother, keenly aware of the son's aspirations. Alongside his Dubai dreams, he grapples with additional responsibilities, looking after his elderly parents, and arranging his sister's upcoming wedding. Meanwhile, his longtime girlfriend Aathmika (Rishika Naik), employed at a bank, anxiously awaits marriage, pressured by her mother's declining health and societal norms dictating swift matrimony.

As Purusha tries to juggle his aspirations, family duties and societal pressures, the film delves deep into the complexities of his decision-making journey. Will he successfully navigate the challenges to ensure his sister's wedding and tie the knot with Aathmika, all while pursuing his Dubai dream? Or will unforeseen circumstances veer him off course? The emotional apex of the movie lays bare the repercussions of choices made in the pursuit of happiness, underscoring the quest to attain one's ultimate fulfillment.

Visiting Dubai on a short trip may spark excitement, yet for many middle-class dreamers yearning for a lifestyle beyond their grasp, Devadas Kapikad's film, traces the journey of individuals striving to permanently embrace its opulence. Through Purusha and a handful of characters, the film unveils the lesser-known struggles and lack of empathy for immigrants' hardships in Dubai, shedding light on the stark realities of life in labour camps. While narratives like these may seem familiar, Ajaya Prithvi's debut performance as the lead truly shines. His appearance and behaviour authentically capture the essence of a middle-class persona, effectively highlighting aspirations as a reflection of societal disparities. Ajaya's portrayal serves as a reminder of the hurdles encountered when dreams intersect with the stark realities of socioeconomic status. His thorough understanding of the role is evident, bringing authenticity to his character portrayal.

Rishika Naik, who plays the love interest, has done her best with her limited screen presence. Director, Devadas Kapid, who has written the script and dialogues, and also plays a role as Karunakar, a Dubai returnee. His character sheds light on the problems faced by some Indian migrants. His and other supporting characters, like family, friends, and neighbours, feel somewhat out of place, which may not have been necessary.

However, I suppose the director considered the local context in which he set the plot and the kind of people and lifestyle prevalent in that area. The plot offers humor but it rarely evokes genuine laughter, except for a few instances, and one may ponder their contribution to the story. The film scores some good musical medleys, but the background score by Nakhul Abhayankar is not up to his usual standard. The cinematography seems to align well with the coastal atmosphere theme.

However, the family bond that the protagonist shares and the sacrifices he makes add significant value to the film. The film imparts a very clear message, the idea that one should seek peace, happiness, and success within their homeland rather than looking for it elsewhere. The protagonist's journey illustrates the willingness to endure hardships, highlighting the role of determination in understanding one's purpose.

RATING 3/5

This take on human sacrifices isn't spellbinding enough

KREEM
Director: Abhishek Basanth
Cast: Samyuktha Hegde, Agni Sreedhar, Arun Sagar, and Achyuth Kumar

A SHARADHAA

A STORY originating from writer Agni Sreedhar, noted for his gritty portrayals of the underworld in films such as Aa Dinagalu and Edegarike, the anticipation surrounding his latest tale, Kreem, was palpable. However, as helmed by debutant director Abhishek Basanth, this narrative, rooted in true events, diverges from Sreedhar's signature style, enveloping audiences in a more dramatic outcome. At its heart lies the enigmatic title, Kreem, a sacred chant invoking the formidable presence of Lord Mahakali. As this mystical invocation threads through the fabric of the film, viewers are taken on a journey where the divine and gritty sacrifices converge. Let's delve into how the director navigates the significance of Kreem through the protagonist.

Firstly, this film, to me, I thought could make for a mega stage play. Kreem, on big screen presents a mix of mostly English dialogue and Kannada interspersed with captivating cinematic visuals and trance beats. Unfolding in darkness, it reflects the sinister forces at play. Exploring the unsettling topic of human sacrifices, often glimpsed in newspapers or hinted at through television, but now delved into through the medium of cinema in Kannada, provides a fresh perspective.

Unsure of the intended audience, given Agni Sreedhar's diverse experiences, the film predominantly unfolds in dimly lit settings, immersing viewers in a world of bloodshed, strange rituals, and secrecy. The opening scenes begin with animation, introducing us to the characters. Here, we meet Desmond Patel (Agni Sreedhar), who is in a grey-shade character.

Desmond, a liquor baron, stumbles upon a guru one fateful night, who instructs him to plant a mysterious plant in a specific spot, only to encounter three enigmatic beings who reject his offerings of money. As Desmond delves deeper into this mystical world, he discovers the existence of supreme creatures and yearns for another encounter, but his guru denies him. Undeterred, Desmond encounters a cult from the West known as 'Abaddon,' meaning destruction in Hebrew language, and brings them back to India, unleashing chaos and destruction.

Joining him are Jois (Arun Sagar), RudreGowda (Achyuth Kumar), among a few others. Amidst the disturbing realities of evil practices, Pearl (Samyuktha Hegde), also known as Aksha to some, encounters Rudregowda as she saves a girl from his clutches, surprising Rudregowda with her intervention.

Why is Pearl on the defense to save the girl, who is involved in prostitution, and what is her motive? This question leads us to the backstory of Pearl. After the break, we revisit Pearl's backstory, where she rises from a humble middle-class upbringing and becomes a survivor of sacrificial rites. Guided by a caring guruji or baba, Pearl/Aksha trains hard and uses the Kreem mantra for strength. With the help of Goddess Mahakali, she becomes a beacon of hope in the darkness, ready to face the villains.

In the final showdown, Aksha confronts them like a skilled fighter, defeating all of Desmond's associates. Will she fulfill Desmond's final wish of having a cigar before he dies?

While generally perceived as an act of vengeance, the film subtly blurs the distinction between punishment and revenge, highlighting the disparity between sacrifice and offering. Pearl's journey represents the victory of good over evil, empowered by divine help and her own inner strength.

While Abhishek Basanth has endeavoured to realize the writer's vision, the subject matter itself doesn't conform to the usual narrative. Whether based on true events within high society or merely fictionalised, the disturbing nature of such heinous occurrences is undeniable. Yet, the film's ability to convey the required message is not straightforward but roundabout, which is not effective. Samyuktha Hegde deserves commendation for stepping out of her comfort zone and delivering a compelling performance, particularly in the action sequences. However, the prevalence of bloodshed and sacrifices begs the question: why isn't there a solution? Whether it's the harsh reality biting back or individuals facing the consequences of their actions within the high society's confines, I ponder how the film will resonate with the everyday viewer. Furthermore, the sacred chant holds a deeper significance beyond mere appearance and disappearance; its vibration feels out of reach. Will the Kreem as a mantra, truly weave its spell on the audience? Only time holds the answer.

An anti-myth masterpiece

DUNE: Part 2 begins with the line, "He who controls the spice, controls all." Control lies at the very heart of Dune. An indigenous desert tribe trying to take back control of their home planet, royal houses fighting each other to gain control, the galactic emperor scheming to maintain control, and an ancient sisterhood with multi-layered plans to control them all from the shadows. If myths taught us anything, it is that heroes emerge to fight systems of power. However, Dune, leveraging everything grand and sweeping about the monomyth (or the hero's journey), tells us how heroes might themselves become a system of control.

The sequel, which picks up immediately after the original film, is a densely packed network of themes. From how faith breeds fundamentalism to the manufacturing of legends for psychological control, the construction of powerful economic structures through oppressing the people, the ruthlessness of large-scale politics, and the perilous drive for revenge and its consequences, Dune provides you with multiple focal points to study its various themes. However, what is more fascinating is how these themes are connected to provide a seamless narrative. For example, the broader commentary on how religion is used as a tool of manipulation also feeds into how Paul Atreides metes out his revenge. The consciousness-expanding hallucinogen called Spice, which unshackles Paul from his conventional views of morality, is also the central component in space travel, which goes on to fuel the economic systems and the political power plays at large. While these complex ideas are already inherent in Frank Herbert's Dune, where the film excels as a consummate adaptation is how Denis Villeneuve preserves the intricacies of the story within the simplified, visual grammar of a film.

There is a scene where Javier Bardem's Stilgar makes an appeal to his community to accept Paul as the messiah foretold in their prophecies. Meanwhile, Chani and her supporters argue against this notion, explaining how these prophecies are designed to manipulate and control them. Both the groups stand surprised as Paul intervenes and agrees with Chani. The scene is then immediately cut to Javier discussing with fellow believers how only a messiah could be this humble. With this scene, elevated by economic dialogue and efficient editing, not only the absurdity of blind faith is explained but also how a close-knit community like the Fremen, are willing to lay down their lives for an outsider like Paul. Even in scenes where you are sure to know the outcome—like in the final confrontation between Paul Atreides and Feyd-Rautha Harkonnen—Denis pushes the rhythm and pacing just below the breaking point so you are always on the edge. Like how a roller coaster still thrills you even when you see the drop coming, the filmmaker keeps you hooked, even when the story takes a predictable turn.

A large part of why the film's emotional beats work so well could be credited to the performances. Austin Butler leaves a lasting impression even when you realise, in retrospect, that Feyd-Rautha is a conventional psychopath we have seen countless times on screen before. Zendaya's performance as Chani elevates her as the moral core of the film, the defiant voice of reason, who stands unswayed by the overwhelming tide of events. Timothee Chalamet's portrayal of Paul Atreides has powerful range, making us smoothly sail past questions like why the Fremen both revere and fear Paul, why Chani struggles between her love for Paul and her sense of morality, why a psychologically strong Bene Gesserit with thousands of years of memories is shaken to the core when Paul shouts 'silence!'. Chalamet makes us understand Paul so intrinsically that we never question the authenticity of such a larger-than-life character. However, Rebecca Ferguson seems to have the most fun, playing an unhinged, psychologically complex character like Lady Jessica. Ferguson's Jessica could have easily become the witch archetype that she is accused of by the characters in the story. However, with a layered yet restrained performance, Ferguson keeps Jessica grounded and does not give into the extremities of the character by making her a mentally unstable manipulator. What we instead get is a political mastermind and a morally grey religious figure.

The foremost triumph of Dune: Part 2 is the orchestral precision with which Denis Villeneuve concocts total immersion. From Hans Zimmer's delightfully overwhelming score to carefully crafted sound design, production design that effectively captures the expansive world-building, Greig Fraser's powerful visuals that drench you with every angle of sunlight, and evocative performances. These cinematic machinations work in tandem with the intricate network of themes inherent in Dune, in a seamless flow, to give us the story of how someone can be both a hero and a villain, how a messiah both emerges and is manufactured, how the Atreides and Harkonnens are the one and the same, and how determinism and free will are somehow interlinked. Breaking conventions of the hero's myth, Dune: Part 2 shows you the illusion of dichotomy, which is perhaps put succinctly in the final dialogue between Jessica and Gaius Helen Mohiam. Jessica says, "You have chosen the wrong side" and the reverend mother replies, "You think there are sides?"
